RUBBER BOAT FROM RENAHAN PLANE FOUND

Discovered By Indian on the Beach North of Prince Rupert

Canadian Press

Prince Rupert, B.C., May 6.—Andrew Tait, Port Simpson Indian, brought to the customs office here to-day an air rubber boat, which he picked up on the beach of Zayas Island, off Dundas Island, a few miles north of Prince Rupert. It was in that neighborhood that Pilot Robert Renahan of the Alaska Washington Airways disappeared early last winter.

The boat, of yellow rubber, was folded and securely tied by the side ropes. It bore the following stamp, barely discernible: "Air rubber boat, New York Rubber Corporation, Beacon, New York."

The impression is that the boat belonged to Renahan, for it is customary to have boats of this description carried in seaplanes. It was ripped across the back, but otherwise appeared in good shape.

WHY SHATTER TOLMIE BOOM? PATTULLO ASKS

For Three Years Campaign Has Waged to Show B.C. Has Super-government

Jones Still Careless in His Financial Statements, Says Opposition Leader

T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, returned from a visit to Prince Rupert yesterday. Mr. Pattullo did not stop over at Vancouver on account of appointments in Victoria.

Prince Rupert is feeling the depression, but business last year was good there which is helping to carry over the present period, Mr. Pattullo said.

"I notice," he continued, "that during my absence the press has been very insistent with dispatches that Hon. S. F. Tolmie is going to resign the premiership, and several guesses have been made as to who will take his place. For three years now an intensive ballyhoo has been conducted to persuade the people that we are getting a super-government. Why, then, the necessity for displacing Premier Tolmie?

"I note also, according to press report, that our new Minister of Finance, Hon. J. W. Jones, states that the day of deficits is over, and he would lead one to believe that there had been deficits everyyear for the past twenty years. The minister has been in the House since 1916. During the time he was in opposition he was extremely careless in statements, and he has not improved since becoming Minister of Finance. Notwithstanding the minister's courageous statements of proposed economies, he presented the largest budget ever presented to the Legislature of British Columbia, and the most most misrepresentative ever submitted to a British Columbia Parliament. He is simply continuing the bluffing in which this government has indulged ever since it took office."

Angelo Sposito Granted Remand

Hearing of Angelo Sposito on a charge of keeping beer for sale was set in City Police Court this morning for next Monday. W. A. Brethour appears for the defence.

Sposito was brought back from Vancouver to face the charge. He left the city some time after police raided the Northern Hotel, 570 Yates Street, last Saturday, and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest.

No plea was entered this morning. Sposito is at liberty on $2,000 bail.

Supreme Court Is Asked To Give Radio Ruling

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 6.—At the opening of the radio hearing before the Supreme Court of Canada here to-day W. W. Tilley, K.C., for the Dominion Government, began an explanation of the nature of radio waves. He was supporting the dominion's contention that as radio waves are not confined to any one province, the control of radio should be vested in the Dominion Government rather than in the provincial governments.

MR. JUSTICE DUFF ABSENT

Chief Justice Anglin presided and all the Supreme Court judges with the exception of Mr. Justice Duff, who is ill, were associated with him in the hearing. The court room was filled with counsel representing the various provinces, the Canadian Radio League and private interests. Radio experts from government departments and private companies were also present.

Owing to the necessity of avoiding interference between stations, said Mr. Tilley, international agreements governing the allotment of wave lengths were necessary, suitable bands of frequencies had to be assigned to each class of radio communication.

Radio broadcasting formed a very small part of radio communication, Mr. Tilley emphasized. Communication between ships at sea, between ships and land, and commercial transmission of messages over long distances formed the greater part of the exchange of intelligence by radio.

Following an international conference, Mr. Tilley said, the British Empire had entered into a treaty, subsequently ratified by Canada, respecting radio communication. The Dominion Parliament heeded legislative power to carry out this treaty. Among other provisions the treaty appropriated certain channels for the different kinds of radio communication.

1929 TREATY

In March, 1929, a treaty was effected by Canada, the United States, Mexico and Cuba, respecting radio. Negotiations had subsequently been carried on with the United States with regard to the allocation between the two countries of the ninety-six channels allotted by the international convention to the service of broadcasting.

"Broadcasting is, one might say, the least important part of the uses to which the radio spectrum is put," said Mr. Tilley. It was in the much larger field of the other forms of communication that regulation by legislation and international agreement had its greatest effect.

Farm Debate In House Soon to End In Vote

Commons To-morrow Will Continue Discussion of Brown Amendment Which Has Produced Sharp Criticism of Bennett Ministry's Course

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 6—The Commons to-morrow will resume discussion of the amendment to the motion to go into supply, so that what has become known as "the agricultural debate" will be proceeded with. This was announced in the House this afternoon by Premier Bennett when asked by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, what to-morrow's business would be. Mr. Bennett said the House would be asked to consider a general act and resolution appertaining to a bill, following which the amendment of John Brown, Liberal, Lisgar, Man., would be continued.

Mr. Brown's amendment deplores that the government has failed to fulfill its promises with respect to the pronouncement of an agricultural policy. It is tantamount to a motion of "no confidence" in the government.

STEVENS SPEAKS

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was applauded from all parts of the Commons this afternoon when he rose to speak for the first time in the House since his recent illness. He continued the debate on the resolution of Alfred Speakman, U.F.A., for establishment of a national council of social and economic research.

Such a council would deal with the problem of production, distribution and kindred questions.

IMPORTANT DISCUSSION

"The motion before the House," Mr. Stevens said, "is one of those motions which perhaps result in a great deal of good in that they bring to the attention of the House matters of importance for discussion."

He congratulated Mr. Speakman on the moderate tone of the presentation o this suggestion, but could not agree with the remarks of the seconder (J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North eCntre). The remarks of the seconder were "sufficient reason for not accepting the motion," he thought.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce was unable to agree with some of the promises contained in the resolution. For instance, although great progress had been made by organized

HINKLER TO FLY TO NEW YORK FROM BUFFALO

Buffalo, N.Y., May 6.—Bert Hinkler, noted Australian aviator, planned to leave here to-day for New York city aboard the moth plane in which he arrived from Toronto yesterday.

Hinkler denied reports he was on his way to Buenos Aires, preparatory for a flight across the South Atlantic to Africa. He said the reports had originated in Toronto and added:

"You see, whenever I take a plane off the ground over there, they get the idea I must be going somewhere. If I have not decided where I am going they decide it for me.

"I am not in a position at this time to make any statement about my plans."

MAIL ROBBERIES INVESTIGATED

PREPARING FOR CONFERENCE ON WHEAT SELLING

All Grain Exporting Nations Are to Be Represented in London May 18

Co-operative Efforts to Steady Market Aim of Delegates Who Will Attend

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 6.—All the wheat exporting nations of the world, including Soviet Russia, will be represented at the Wheat Conference to be opened May 18 at Canada House here under the chairmanship of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain.

The United States has already indicated it is sending three experts. Russian participation is assured, and the conference, an outgrowth of the world wheat conference at Rome, will be enabled to make a thorough study of the world wheat situation so far as it particularly concerns the exporting nations, preliminary to endeavoring to reach agreement on some form of orderly marketing of the next wheat crop

WILL LAST ONE WEEK

The conference is expected to last about a week and the discussions will be private.

Before the next wheat crops are considered the major problem before the conference will be orderly disposal of the present wheat surplus.

Particular satisfaction is felt in Canadian circles at the decision of the United States to send a delegation. Among wheat men there is a feeling that the present abnormally low prices are largely due to the psychological effect of the heavy stocks held by the United States Farm Board.

Buyers, it is stated, hesitate to purchase beyond their immediate requirements, fearing a possible further collapse under United States selling pressure. If, therefore, the coming conference can reach a common understanding for the orderly disposal of the surplus stocks, the result will be seen in a general steadying of market conditions.

CO-OPERATIVE EFFORTS

No proposal has so far been made for the formation of a world wheat pool. There is a feeling indeed such would be inadvisable in the present circumstances, and would interfere with the normal courses of trade. The aim is rather to steady the market through co-operative effort and thus bring more equitable prices.

TEMPORARY POLICY TILL REVENUE KNOWN

C.P.R. Directors Set Dividend For Quarter at $1.25; Full Year's Rate Later

Beatty in Annual Statement to Shareholders Says 1930 Conditions Unique

Canadian Press

Montreal, May 6.—The following statement was issued by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, following a meeting of the directors of the company here this afternoon:

"In view of the fact that the prospective earnings of the company cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy owing to the unusual conditions now prevailing, the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company decided at their meeting to-day that instead of declaring the usual quarterly dividend at the rate of 2½ per cent, they would declare an interim dividend at this time of 1¼ per cent, and await the results of subsequent months' operations before finally deciding on the rate that will be paid for the full year.

Consolidated Smelters directors, meeting at the same time, announced payment of the usual $5 a share bonus would be made by the allotment of one share of stock for each twenty held and that only the regular dividend of 5 per cent would be paid in cash.

The C.P.R. directors met after the annual meeting of the shareholders.

The new rate for this quarter on the basis of $1.25 a share a year, compares with the former rate of $2.50 a share a year.

EXCHANGE TRADING

Action by the C.P.R. directors in regard to the dividend was expected on the street and the various rumors that were heard affected the stock on the exchanges in Montreal and Toronto, though it finished down only a fraction on the day's trading.

NEW CAPITAL ISSUE

The shareholders in adopting the annual report ratified the issue of $50,000,000 new capital when conditions for such an issue should be suitable.

BEATTY'S STATEMENT

Mr. Beatty, addressing the shareholders' meeting, after reviewing the economic conditions of Canada at large, said the natural shrinkage in the company's gross earnings had been greater in 1930 than in any other period of its history. He said that through careful surveys of operating methods and the ready and willing co-operation of officers and employees, important economies had resulted in the maintenance of the company's position without impairment in all its activities. The company, Mr. Beatty remarked, was thus placed in a position to profit early by the return off general prosperity, which he felt sure would not be over long delayed. It was the intention of the company's directors to proceed with its steady, but not spectacular development as the progress of the country warranted.

The meeting re-elected the old board of directors, who re-elected Mr. Beatty chairman and president; and Grant Hall, vice-president, and E. W. Beatty, Grant Hall, Sir Herbert S. Holt, W. N. Tilley, K.C., Senator Frederick L. Beique, K.C., and Sir Charles Gordon as members of the executive committee.

REVENUE DOWN $28,000,000

Mr. Beatty in his annual statement to the shareholders referred to the fact that the dividend last year had been met after economies had been effected and with the assistance of special income. He also dealt with the drop in revenues, those of 1930 being $28,830,150, less than in 1929. Working expenses in 1930 had been reduced by $23,934,265. The average

TWO PILOTS LOSE LIVES IN PLANE CRASH

Unable to Find Field at Burbank, Cal., in Fog and Darkness

Two Planes Searching For Missing Mail Machine Find Wreckage on Hill

Associated Press

Burbank, Calif., May 6.—Heavy fog over this city proved a death shroud for Art Starbuck and Charles R. Parmalee, pilot and co-pilot, respectively, of a Pacific Air Transport mail plane, whose crushed bodies were found today in the wreckage of their plane on a mountainside eight miles north of here.

The plane left San Diego at 10.15 yesterday evening for Los Angeles, and shortly before midnight officials at the company's airport here heard the drome of one engine as the plane circled Burbank in a vain effort to find the landing field.

Officials said the ship carried a radio and they were in touch with it for a moment, the pilots reporting they were flying at 2,500 feet.

After circling for a few moments, the plane headed toward the north.

FOUND BY SEARCHERS

Because of the dense fog, scouting planes could not take up the search and lead the lost ship to its base.

At the first streak of dawn, however, two planes took off. The fog had lifted somewhat, and shortly afterward the mail plane was sighted on the mountainside, a complete wreck.

As soon as the plane was found, automobiles and ambulances started for the scene.

Both pilots were strapped in their seats, and both had died instantly. The ship did not catch fire.

NAVAL TREATY TALK HOPEFUL

Henderson Tells British Commons Franco-Italian Negotiations Continuing

Cahadian Press

Paris, May 6.—The naval committee of the Chamber of Deputies this evening voted to ask the government to insist on the French thesis in regard to replacement of superannuated naval vessels during negotiations among Great Britain, France and Italy.

London, May 6.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, told the Commons to-day there was still hope settlement of the Franco-Italian naval negotiations would be reached.

He said the negotiations had been conducted all along with the utmost good will, adding that "we are not without hope a settlement will be reached.

At present the British Government was awaiting the French reply to the answer the Italian government had given to the French memorandum of April 20, outlining France's position.

"When this has been received, both replies will be most carefully studied," said the Foreign Secretary.

DOUKHOBORS IN RUSSIA ARE TO MIGRATE

Verigin Asks That Some of Them Be Allowed to Settle on Land in Canada

Majority Expected to Settle in Mexico Or Country in South America

Saskatoon, Sask., May 6.—A delegation of Doukhobors will leave Brilliant, B.C., about June 1 for Russia in an effort to obtain passports for members of the Universal Bortherhood of Doukhobors now domiciled in that country to leave for either Mexico or South America, Peter Verigin, leader of the colony in Canada, who passed through Saskatoon this morning en route to Brilliant from Verigin, Sask., made this announcement.

Mr. Verigin said the condition of his people in Russia was extremely grave, and that they were subject to frequent persecutions by Red soldiers.

REQUEST TO OTTAWA

Representations would be made to the federal government to allow a certain number of families to enter Canada, he said, but whether this request would be acceded to or not provision was being made in Mexico for the absorbing of a large colony.

Field men now in Mexico were making a survey of available lands and tests of soil and gathering data which would be useful to the new settlers if the permission of the Russian government to their leaving Russia should be granted.

Mr. Verigin could not estimate how many families would be brought out under the proposed scheme, but said the avacuation of his people from Russian would continue until all had been settled in some other country.

LLOYD GEORGE SUPPORTS LAND TAX IN BRITAIN

London, May 6.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George this evening threw his support to Chancellor Snowden's proposed tax of a penny a pound, declaring it already had worked in some of the largest cities of the Dominions and in the United States.

"The case for the duty is overwhelming," he said, in the Commons. "Lands which used to sell for $300 an acre is being sold now at from $3,000 to $15,000 an acre. Is it unfair then to levy this tax on people who so far have escaped taxation?"

GRAF ZEPPELIN TO FLY TO MEET WILKINS EXPEDITION AT POLE

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 6.—Dr. Hugo Eckener, master of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, to-day announced he and a party would start for the North Pole aboard the airship about the middle of July to meet Sir Hubert Wilkins, who with a crew is going up there in a submarine.

This attempt to make a contact with the Wilkins party at or near the Pole, he said, should clarify the question as to whether the airship is the most appropriate means for landing polar expeditions near their destination, picking them up later and providing them with supplies during their stay in the Arctic.

The Zeppelin expedition is to be financed by William Randolph Hearst, whose newspapers also are backing the Wilkins voyage.

The Graf is scheduled to carry forty-five persons on the Arctic flight, including Lady Drummond May. It will take along complete Polar equipment, including sledges, boats and Arctic clothing. The time of the start will depend on the progress of the Wilkins expedition.

TOLMIE SAYS HE WILL NOT QUIT CABINET

Vancouver, May 6.—The Vancouver Province published to-day the following dispatch from Ottawa:

"'Nothing in it at all. Such a proposition to my knowledge has never been discussed.'

"This was the reply of Hon. S. F. Tolmie to-day to rumors that he intended to retire, and that either W. J. Bowser or Maj-Gen. A. D. McRae, or both together, would form a new administration in British Columbia.

"The Premier of British Columbia will go west, probably over the coming week-end."

FARM DEBATE IN HOUSE SOON TO END IN VOTE

scientific research in solving the problem of production, Mr. Stevens was unable to agree with the statement that a full solution had been reached.

SOLUTION NEEDED

"It is so easy," continued Mr. Stevens, "to throw out the mere statement of a problem, but it is something else to come forward with solutions." Such problems as distribution, purchasing power and the exchange values of agricultural products, he said, were world-wide in scope. He agreed men of scientific training were best suited to study such problems, but "it is not a short cut to shuffle the solutions on to the state."

USE OF RESOURCES

The government was taking the resources of this great country and endeavoring to make the best of them. The problem of individualism, however, entered in the question of distribution and kindred problems involving the activities of individuals. He would hesitate, said Mr. Stevens, to advise the House to appoint a body for the purpose of dealing with this class of problem. He thought it would be better for such problems to come under the survey of trained minds at present in the service of the government.

The speech of the seconder of the resolution (J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) had given to the House some real reasons for objecting to it, he said. Mr. Woodsworth had practically suggested the adoption of principles behind the Soviet system at present in operation in Russia. Mr. Stevens did not think that had been in the mind of the mover of the resolution.

BRAINS OF COUNTRY

Mr. Woodsworth had declared Canada should mobilize the brains of the country. This had already been done. The brains of the country were mobilized in the civil service, in industry, in the various forms of government and in other activities, and they were all directed toward the solution of problems confronting the nation.

The government felt it would not be wise to carry the Speakman resolution, said Mr. Stevens.

EXPERTS AT WORK

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King stated the National Research Council had authority sufficient to make the researches Mr. Speakman's resolution called for.

Ottawa, May 6.—The Commons tomorrow will again debate the condition of agriculture in Canada. The subject was before the House yesterday afternoon and evening, but the government got no farther with its motion to go into supply. For practically the entire day the Commons dealt with the amendment of J. L. Brown, Liberal member for Lisgar, Man., which expresses regret "the administration has failed to implement its definite promises with respect to agriculture," and charges the administration has failed to announce any agricultural policy to the House. The amendment was moved April 28 to Premier Bennett's motion calling for the House to go into committee of supply. It constitutes, therefore, a motion of want of confidence in the government.

With an hour from 8 to 9 o'clock, taken out yesterday evening for private members' bills, the debate was not ended when adjournment came at 11 p.m. and it went over.

WEIR IS SILENT

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, sat and listened throughout the entire debate. Now and then he took a note of criticism voiced by an oppponent, but he did not respond. It is expected he will speak before the amendment comes to a vote.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Liberal Minister of Agriculture, declared action was essential. The Bennett ministers had been "under the gag." "I don't think there is a hole between here and Hades the Prime Minister has not put his foot in," he remarked.

CHICKEN TROUBLES

Mr. Weir, the present Minister of Agriculture, had formulated certain policies, one of them to deal with polarum in chickens. Did the minister think this was new? "Ask the chickens of the Maritime Provinces?" counselled Mr. Motherwell. "They will tell you they have had polarum for fifteen years." The former administration had done much through scientific research to eradicate that disease.

When further pressed in newspaper articles to enunciate his plans, the minister had said his policy would be disclosed in the estimates.

"I want to commend the minister for doing his best," said Mr. Motherwell, "without the help of anyone in the cabinet—whose only experience in farming was that they saw someone working on a farm through the cracks of a fence when they were going to school."

STAMP INQUIRY

Mr. Motherwell said a commission, headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, had made an inquiry into grain futures, but the speaker thought the result of that commission would be that things would go on pretty much as they had done before.

The Melville, Sask., member, made a plea for encouragement of dairying, and suggested the advisability of a thorough investigation into the livestock industry.

Mr. Motherwell twitted Premier Bennett with showing his love for Great Britain by raising the tariff saginst British imports. It reminded him of the fox which, when alarmed, devoured its litter because of the animal's intense love for the young ones.

CONSTRUCTIVE MEASURES NEEDED

Something would have to be done to aid the farmers, and the opposition would be willing to abandon the traditional attitude of an opposition and co-operate with the government if measures could be approved for the amelioration of the industry.

PROMISES NOT KEPT

E. O. Bertrand, Liberal, Prescott, Ont., said the present Prime Minister, had promised to protect farmers and secure more markets for them, but that this had not been done.

No indication of effective action for agriculture appeared in the estimates for the coming year, said Mr. Bertrand. There was an increase of $175,000 in the appropriation for experimental farms, but that would be of no immediate help. On the other hand, there was a reduction of $300,000 in the amount provided for indemnifying farmers whose cattle were slaughtered to prevent the spread of disease.

An increase in the subsidy to the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto did not seem a good way of assisting agriculture when so little money was available for purposes for which it was badly needed, said Mr. Bertrand.

IMMEDIATE ACTION DEMANDED

Inactivity regarding the agricultural industry was charged against the government by Joseph A. Verville, Liberal, Lotbinieres, Que. Premier Bennett had been prolific with promises before the election last July, but now he was finding himself unable to implement them. Agriculture, Mr. Verville said, demanded immediate action from the government, not further promises.

Mr. Verville said the interest on farm loans was too high. The present rate, he remarked, was six and one-half per cent.

The majority of the speeches yesterday afternoon and evening came from the Liberal side of the House, some of them being made in French. Toward the end of the debate, Samuel Gobeil, Conservative member for Compton, claimed that while opposition members were blaming the government for low butter prices, they had failed to note the present administration was recovering the home market for the Canadian farmers. He believed protection was in the best interests of the Canadian butter producers.

POLICE GOING BEYOND POWERS, COMMONS TOLD

Woodworth Criticizes Barring of Public Meetings; House Debates Free Speech

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 6.—During the hour devoted to private members' bills, 8 to 9, in the Commons yesterday evening, one sponsored by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, commanded all the attention. It seeks to amend the Criminal Code with regard to public assemblies by setting forth that the character of the speeches on public affairs shall be the determining factor whether an assembly is lawful or unlawful.

As the bill was "talked out" yesterday evening, it went to the foot of the list, and may not be reached again during the present session.

ACTION OF POLICE

Mr. Woodsworth deplored that police throughout Canada were exercising powers with which they were not actually invested. In Toronto the police had prevented public assemblies "because they did not like the people who were holding them," said Mr. Woodsworth. In Montreal a similar condition prevailed. Those police tactics were spreading to western Canada, for an item in a Saskatoon paper told of the chief of police at North Battleford suggesting that an "open forum" be suppressed unless it was conducted under the auspices of some organization which could be held responsible for it.

These conditions reminded him, continued Mr. Woodsworth, of the phrase in the office of some United States employees: "we are 100 per cent American, so keep your mouth shut."

Police in Canada were constituting themselves the sole judges, and he feared Canadians were becoming infected with "American hysteria" in connection with public gatherings.

HANSON SPEAKS

The law as it now stood needed no clarifying, said R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury, N.B. Mr. Woodsworth's real grievance was not against the law, but against the manner in which it was being enforced, he said. Accordingly the member for Winnipeg North Centre should have taken the matter up with the provinces, which, Mr. Hanson said had the duty of administering the law.

At the present time, Mr. Hanson proceeded, the House of Commons should take no action calculated to give the impression the authority of those administering the law was being loosened. Many of those trying to hold assemblies were opposed to the institutions of the country. It would be highly improper to "weaken the arm of the law."

G. M. McDade, Conservative, Northumberland, N.B., questioned the right of Mr. Woodsworth to speak for labor on this question. Prominent supporters of the cause of labor in his own province of New Brunswick held an entirely different opinion to Mr. Woodsworth's on this subject.

Hon. Peter Heenan, Liberal, Kenora-Rainy River, said he was in favor of the bill. The member for York-Sunbury (Mr. Hanson) had suggested the object of the bill was to relieve those men who were a menace to society. All he had to say in this regard, stated Mr. Heenan, was that those very men and women "who are now pictured as having their hands raised against society were pictured during the election as reasonable Canadian citizens who had the misfortune to be unemployed and for whom the government of that day would do nothing." Those people, Mr. Heenan said, had gone "around with white labels on the lapels of their coats in order that they might be regarded as good Canadian citizens" for whom the government of the day would do nothing at all. Now it appeared these men were "undesirables, and the very men who congregated these people for election purposes now wished to deport them."

Frank W. Turnbull, Conservative, Regina, asked where this "congregating" with buttons had taken place.

Mr. Heenan answered it was in Regina and Winnipeg.

"The people of Toronto," said Lieut.-Col. G. R. Geary, Conservative, South Toronto, "are fully alive to what menace there is in Communism. They recognize, perhaps, that Toronto is the centre of Communism in Canada—at least I am told Toronto is headquarters. The people of that city realize that fact."

But, added Lieut.-Col. Geary, they were not unfair people, and they would not allow the board of police commissioners to act outside the law.

Lieut.-Col. Geary said freedom of speech was not license. "It must be within the law," he said. Those using freedom of speech must do so with respect to British traditions, principles and institutions. He opposed the bill, as did other members on the Conservative side of the House.

SALUTE FIRED TO-DAY ON KING'S ANNIVERSARY

Twenty-one Guns Fired at Work Point; Service at Cathedral

In honor of the twenty-first anniversary of the accession of King George, twenty-one guns were fired at noon to-day at Work Point Barracks. The salute was fired by a detachment of the Fifth Heavy Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, under command of Capt. G. W. L. Macdonald.

A special service was held at Christ Church Cathedral at 10 o'clock, the address being given by Ven. Archdeacon E. P. Laycock. The service was attended by delegations of the various chapters of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, who occupied a specially reserved section. Thanksgiving prayers for the recovery of His Majesty from his recent illness, featured the service.

KING AT WINDSOR

Windsor, Eng., May 6.—Ringing of bells in the Royal Chapel and Windsor Church reminded the people to-day was the twenty-first anniversary of the accession of King George V.

The King, recuperating from a recent attack of bronchitis, spent the day quietly within Windsor Castle. With him was the Queen, who has been his constant companion through an eventful reign which began with the death of King Edward VII, May 6, 1910.

In London and in naval and military centres throughout the Empire the occasion was observed with the customary gun salutes to the monarch.

CONSERVATIVES IN CAUCUS

Ottawa, May 6.—With Premier R. B. Bennett presiding, Conservative members of the Commons and Senators met in caucus this forenoon. The discussion was general in character, and there was no announcement made at the conclusion of the meeting.

number of employees, Mr. Beatty pointed out, had been decreased by only 5.95 per cent., as compared with 1929, and 8.01 per cent. as compared with 1928, a year of prosperity.

THIS YEAR'S FIGURES

Mr. Beatty said the results of operations for the first three months of this year again reflected the prevailing trade conditions, the decrease in gross earnings being $5,919,869, and in net earnings $943,306 under those of 1930. The decrease in freight earnings in the same period was eleven per cent., and in passenger earnings thirty per cent. Expenses had been lessened by $1,658,853 a month.

Further reductions as from May 1 would be effected by the shortening of the hours worked by employees, which would effect a saving of from ten to eleven per cent. A similar reduction was being made in directors' remuneration and the salaries of the president, vice-presidents and all general district divisional and departmental officers.

SYSTEMS CO-OPERATE

The president said the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National were co-operating to eliminate wasteful forms of competition. Substantial economies had been effected through reduction in passenger train service without seriously affecting the legitimate requirements of the people in the communities served.

YEAR OF DECREASES

Mr. Beatty, in moving the adoption of the annual report, said:

"I wish to make some observations respecting the operations of the past year and also some reference to the immediate future as the directors and myself appreciate it.

"As the shareholders know, the year 1930 was one of great decreases in the gross earnings of the company, in common with those of almost every railway company on this continent, the decreases in rail revenues being heavier with one exception than in any similar period in the company's history. Naturally economies were put into effect in every department of the service, with the result that with the assistance of special income, the dividend requirements for the year were met.

GROSS EARNINGS

"Though the figures are set out in detail in the annual report, I would again draw your attention to the reductions in gross earnings during the years 1929 and 1930, those of 1929 being less by $19,308,341.52 than those of the previous year and those of 1930 being $28,890,150.98 less than in 1929, an aggregate reduction in the two years of $48,138,492.50. During the same two years, working expenses were decreased by $10,758,434.00 in 1929 and by $23,934,266.00 in 1930. The latter reductions, though substantial, were not sufficient to offset the decline in gross and the net earnings decreased by $8,549,907.89 in 1929 and by $4,895,835.32 in 1930 under those of the previous year.

STAFF FIGURES

"In dealing with the question of economies through reductions in staff, our officers had of necessity to exercise great discretion in the measures taken, due to the general unemployment situation throughout Canada. In the result, the average number of employees in rail operations was decreased by only 5.95 per cent as compared with 1929 and 8.01 per cent as compared with 1928, a year of prosperity and consequent heavy traffic. Expressed in terms of man power the percentages of reductions were 8.31 per cent as compared with 1929 and 10.88 per cent as compared with 1928. These figures indicate the care taken in making the necessary adjustments.

"I take this occasion to acknowledge publicly the assistance we received, and are still receiving from our officers and men in effecting economics and in reducing wages and salaries.

UNIQUE EAR

"In reviewing the results of the 1930 operations, it must be remembered the conditions were unique, the widespread character of the depression affecting practically every branch of the company's operations. These operations are varied, and sources of substantial revenues in normal times are lacking when the depression is so general.

"The expenditures of the company on capital account during 1930 amounted in the aggregate to $62,131,100.00, of which the construction of new branch lines, the acquisition of railway properties, the provision of modern bridges and general betterments to the system accounted for $31,426,748.00. The capital cost of steamships in service or under construction was $13,142,899.00 and the additions to your hotel system cost $7,698,573.00. New equipment at a cost of $9,862,881.00 was either constructed or purchased during the year.

PROJECTS COMPLETED

"A number of projects started in previous years were brought to successful completion during the year. The capital expenditures, details of which are given in the report, were largely on works under way or for which commitments had been made prior to 1930; $9,948,964.02 was spent on branch lines. This branch line programme was the result of careful thought and planning. Your company, several years ago, received the necessary governmental authority to build certain extensions into important territories, and it was not considered possible to reduce the work planned without relinquishing advantages which it was felt should not be surrendered.

"The reasons for the other expenditures were given at the time your approval was obtained. It may be appropriate to note that during the year additions to the Palliser Hotel at Calgary, the Royal York at Toronto, the Empress at Victoria, all much needed, were completed, and the new Cornwallis Inn at Kentville and the Pines Hotel at Digby were taken into your hotel account. In 1929 you authorized the construction of a hotel in London. An adequate and well-located site has been secured, but the work of construction will be deferred until conditions are more favorable.

ASSETS OF COMPANY

"You will observe from the balance sheet that the assets of the company are shown as $1,371,969,695, an increase over 1929 of $32,582,433. The contributing items are, briefly stated, as follows: In property investment there is an increase of $38,840,511, in ocean and coastal steamships an increase of $13,142,899, and in acquired securities an increase of $10,772,891. These increases have been itemized in the receipts and expenditures statement on page 31 of the annual report.

"Advances to controlled properties and insurance premiums increased $3,023,599.

"In the items included under the caption 'investments and available resources,' there is a decrease of $2,583,351, principally due to the writing down of the price per acre of the agricultural lands shown in exhibit D.

"In working assets," said Mr. Beatty, "there has been a decrease of $31,614,116, mainly confined to the cash in hand. The cash in treasury at December 31, 1929, included the proceeds of an issue of collateral trust bonds in that month sold in a favorable market to meet capital expenditures to be incurred in 1930.

RESERVE FUND

"Your directors are pleased that at the end of the year, the company's reserves and appropriations stood at the substantial figure of $42,812,336.75, or virtually at the same level as at the close of the year 1927. During the year part of the provision for the usual liberal retirement of obsolete equipment and part of the expenditure incurred for unemployment relief we charged against amounts set aside in previous years for contingencies. It is mainly because of these charges and the distribution of a portion of the amount at the credit of the Allan Line Steamship Company, to which reference is made in the report, that the reserves and appropriations show a reduction from the high levels of 1928 and 1929.

SURPLUS ON BOOKS

"The book surplus of the company at the close of the year stands at $333,150,000, and the working capital—that is working assets less current liabilities, stands at $68,340,000, which is roughly $5,000,000 in excess of the average for the years 1924 to 1929. The results of the operations for the first three months of this year again reflect the prevailing trade conditions, the decrease in gross earnings being $5,919,869.60, and in net earnings $943,306.55 under those of 1930.

ECONOMY PLANS

"The shareholders will not think these lower revenues are in any way due to the failure of the directors or officers of the company to correctly appraise the trend of trade in Canada. While it is true we have all been hopeful the conditions would not be so long continued, it is also true the depression has been met by economies in every branch of the service. Indeed, your company has been criticized somewhat for putting into effect measures of economy so promptly. It is undeniable steps were taken to prevent a greater contraction in net earnings, but there is a limit beyond which a company cannot carry economies without injuring its property, and thus to create an undue burden on future earnings to restore it to its original efficiency. It is only right to say this limit has not been exceeded.

DIVIDENDS CONSIDERED

"You will appreciate that in the circumstances I have outlined, and particularly because of the continued fall in traffic, the dividend policy of the company is being given serious consideration by your directors.

SALARY REDUCTIONS

"The decrease in freight earnings for the first quarter was 11 per cent below those of 1930, and in passenger earnings 30 per cent. Other sources of rail revenues decreased 15 per cent. You will observe that expenses during this period have been lessened by $4,976,631.05 or $1,658,853.00 per month. They will be again reduced beginning with the month of May. This further reduction in expenses has in the main and with the concurrence of a substantial majority of our employees, been effected by shortening of time rather than by reduction in basic rates or in the number employed. While this method is not possible in all cases, it has been applied wherever the consent of those affected was obtained. The reduction in expenses so accomplished will be between 10 per cent and 11 per cent of the wages paid to employees in offices, stations and shops. It has been decided that in view of the necessity for economy and the steps we have taken to shorten time among the men, equivalent reductions in the salaries of the president, vice-presidents and all general district, divisional and departmental officers shall be made effective from May 1. This reduction will be to the extent of 10 per cent of the salaries now paid.

"A similar reduction is being made in directors remuneration as shown by by-law being submitted to this meeting.

MOTOR COMPETITION

"The growing influence on railway earnings of bus and truck competition must not be minimized, the former having already made substantial inroads into your passenger receipts and the latter increasingly encroaching on your freight earnings," said Mr. Beatty. "Methods to offset this unfair competition are being continually studied by our traffic and operating officers in the hope measures may be evolved which will permit a fairer allocation of traffic between the railways and these other agencies and prevent further reduction in our gross revenues. It is obvious that at least as great, if not a greater, factor in lowering passenger revenues is the increase of private automobiles, which, of course, cannot be controlled.

RETURN TO PROSPERITY

"While the present recession in business, and, therefore, of earnings, is to be regretted, it is undeniable this company is now in a position to profit most quickly by a return to more normal conditions.

"In rail transportation we have endeavored to maintain our position and through large motive power, modern bridges and better equipment, to increase the efficiency and the economy of the company's operations.

"In your ocean services, the policies which you approved of replacing obsolete and destroyed tonnage by modern vessels of good class has enabled our steamship lines to improve their position and increase their percentage of competitive business even though that business, for reasons which you will thoroughly appreciate, has not in the past few years been as large as usual. Your fleets are an essential and valuable contributor to the company's rail revenues.

"In hotel construction, we have during the past few years incurred substantial expenditures. The Royal York has been built in Toronto and modern fireproof buildings at Banff, Lake Louise and Quebec have replaced buildings partially or wholly destroyed by fire. We have made moderate extensions to the hotels at Victoria and Calgary and have added to our hotels in Nova Scotia, which are primarily designed to take care of the fast growing tourist business in that part of the country.

"The company has not over a long period of years constructed any hotel in a city or place already adequately supplied. We have, I think, wisely avoided this form of duplication notwithstanding that in some cases pressure has been brought to bear in the other direction.

"If the policy which has been followed in recent years, in respect of rail improvements and steamship additions in particular, has not been followed, I am satisfied the loss in gross earnings to your company would have far exceeded the interest charges on the investments we have been required to make.

FOUR JAILED FOR ATTACKING TRAIN HOBOES

Swift Current, Sask., May 6.—Even a respectable hobo may not ride in safety these days. Four desperadoes, armed with automatic revolvers, held up and robbed several "gentlemen of the roads," and in some cases forced them to jump off the moving train. This was revealed in evidence here yesterday.

The evidence convicted Charles Parker, thirty-one, believed to come from eastern Ontario; Robert Barrow, twenty, Kenora, Ont.; Edward Kearney, twenty-two, Kenora, and Orvil King, nineteen, Kenora, of robbery with violence, and brought them sentences ranging from five years in the penitentiary with twenty lashes to six months in jail.

The quartette were sought by officers here after complaints had been wired from Parkberg, near Moose Jaw, Monday afternoon. A round-up netted police here about a dozen drifters and half a dozen hold-up victims and witnesses. The four were arrested soon after alighting from a passenger train they had boarded at some point near here.

Evidence in court showed hold-ups had been carried out on freights along the line between Broadview and Regina as well as between Moose Jaw and Swift Current. The four were identified by drifters who witnessed robberies Monday afternoon. It was further stated the desperadoes had thrown several men off the train.

MANY ARRESTS AT KIEL

LYONS PARTY GROWS IN SIZE IN AUSTRALIA

Canadian Press Cable Via Reuter's

Melbourne, Australia, May 6.—Consolidation of all opposition forces under the leadership of Hon. Joseph Lyons, pledged to overthrow the Labor Government in the general election expected this summer, is gathering force. Already the opposition groups in the Commonwealth Parliament have thrown in their lot under the banner of Mr. Lyons, who until last December was one of the chief lieutenants of Premier James Scullin in the Labor cabinet.

Yesterday all non-Labor bodies of Victoria conferred and established a "United Australia" movement, with the aim of making it the central body fighting the Labor Party in the election. The leadership of Mr. Lyons was unanimously accepted by the Victoria conference. Mr. Lyons, in accepting, again stressed that unity was a national duty of the utmost importance if Australia was to be again set right on the road toward financial and economic recovery.

REGISTRATION PLAN DEBATED BY SENATORS

Private Bill Would Require All Adults in Canada to Be Listed

Ottawa, May 6.—The brief sitting of the senate yesterday evening was the first time the second chamber had met since April 15. The greater part of the time was given to tributes to the late Senator G. G. Foster. The Foster funeral was held Monday.

Several bills sent up from the Commons were given first reading.

Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, Liberal, Montreal, introduced a bill and it was given first reading. It would provide for compulsory registration of all persons in Canada over the age of sixteen years. Registration would be followed by the issuance of a certificate with the person's photograph and signature on it.

Certain exceptions to the universal registration would be allowed. Cloistered nuns, members of the military, naval and air forces while in service, members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and provincial and municipal police forces, inmates of asylums for the insane or mentally defective, inmates of penitentiaries and prisons or of such other institutions as might be excepted by the minister in charge of the administration of the act would not have to register.

The act would apply to everyone in Canada, including British subjects and aliens. All would have to register within a named time and all persons subsequently reaching that age would have to register within one week of their sixteenth birthday.

In applying for registration a person would be required to state his nationality and, if a British subject, whether he had become so by birth or naturalization. He would also submit a photograph which would be attached to his certificate.

CENTRAL BANK NOW URGED IN NEW ZEALAND

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Wellington, N.Z., May 6.—Establishment of a central bank to control New Zealand's credit is recommended by Sir Otto Niemeyer, Bank of England financial expert, who recently investigated the Dominion's banking, currency and exchange problems.

This proposal, if carried out, would involve reorganizing the entire fabric of banking in New Zealand and important departures from present financial practice would be necessitated.

Sir Otto last year carried out an investigation into the financial problems of Australia, recommending severe economy and retrenchment and balanced budgets. The states and commonwealth adopted the recommendations at a conference at Melbourne, but the state of New South Wales has since repudiated them, and has also defaulted payment of interest on debts in London, while the Commonwealth of Australia itself has failed in an attempt to put the reforms into practice and now is trying to gain authority for issuance of $90,000,000 in fiduciary notes—a development that is being opposed by the Senate.

CANADIAN URGES EQUAL DIVISION IN TRADE PROFITS

Atlantic City, N.J., May 6.—Equal division of profit to parties engaging in world trade, said George C. McDonald of Montreal, addressing the United States Chamber of Commerce convention, will result in much more equitable distribution of the wealth of the world and lessen fluctuation from prosperity to adversity.

With her large import and export volume, continued Mr. McDonald, who is chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Canada had come to realize the growing importance of the factor of international inter-dependence, and with that came the lesson that no bargain was a good bargain unless it was good for both parties.

Situation in the wheat industry, he felt, was due to the return of Russia to the wheat market and to revolution in production methods, reducing cost of growing a bushel of wheat to 40 to 50 cents, rather than 80 to 90 cents.

Over production of natural resources, he asserted, was responsible for the newsprint situation, as well as "combination for marketing similar to the wheat combination, which, while it could not be held directly responsible, had nevertheless raised in our customers a hostility complex."

He spoke of the inter-empire trade policy being built up by the British Empire and said it did not exclude foreign goods. It is being predicted, he stated, "that there will be an election in England within six months, that the Conservatives will be elected, and that their main platform will be promotion of preferential trade within the Empire."

Ontario Power Purchases Explained By Hydro Board

Toronto, May 6.—Recent criticism directed at the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario for purchasing power from private sources was answered in a joint statement by members of the commission, issued here yesterday evening. The statement said the commission had been forced into the policy of buying from private sources.

"At no time," said the statement, "has the commission regarded the purchase of power as being contrary or inimical to the principles on which the commission's programme was originally based."

Demand by Ontario citizens for from 75,000 to 100,000 more horsepower every year, necessitated the purchase of power, it said.

Additional power could not be secured at Niagara Falls, owing to the provisions of the international treaty, and the commission had had at no time authority to develop a share of the power available from the St. Lawrence River, the statement explained.

AGED DUKE OF SOMERSET PASSES AWAY

Man Confirmed in Title By House of Lords in 1923 Succumbs in Wiltshire

Maiden Bradley, Wiltshire, Eng., May 6.—The Sixteenth Duke of Somerset (Edward Hamilton Seymour) died yesterday evening at Bradley House. He was nearing seventy-one years of age.

He had been in undisputed possession of the title for only six years, for to prove his claim he was the legal successor after the death of his cousin in 1923 it was necessary for him to establish the validity of a romantic 18th century marriage in the family.

DECIDED BY LORDS' COMMITTEE

There was a dispute as to whether his ancestor, Colonel Frederick Compton Seymour, had been lawfully married in 1786 to Leonora Hudson, a young woman with whom he had fallen in love after rescuing her from an attack by a ruffian in a lonely London district one night in 1717.

Rival claimants to the dukedom said the young woman's husband, whom she believed to be dead, was still living at the time of her marriage to the colonel. The Duke, however, convinced the privileges committee of the House of Lords the marriage was valid

Lieut.-Col. Lord Seymour, aged forty-nine, becomes the seventeenth Duke of Somerset.

Seeding Half Done In Peace River

Winnipeg, May 6.—In the Peace River country wheat seeding is about 50 per cent completed, Canadian National Railway's crop report to-day says. Land in the Peace River and Grande Prairie subdivisions is in ideal condition.

Live stock have wintered well but pasture growth so far is almost negligible. In some localities spring farrowings of pigs have not been very good. This condition is not universal. Western cattle feed lots are rapidly emptying and many feeders are finding their cattle did not make as good gains in weight as they anticipated.

CHEAPER FLOUR

Berlin, May 6.—A reduction in the tariff from 250 to 200 marks a ton was authorized by a government decree today on wheat for German mills which ground foreign wheat during April, May and June last year. The reduction, which is tentatively scheduled to end on June 15, applies only to purchases equalling 20 per cent of the quantity of all wheat ground by the mills during those three months in 1930. The reduction, it is specified, must be used to lower the price of flour.

POLITICAL WIRE-PULLING

THERE IS SOMETHING MORE THAN idle speculation behind the press reports from Ottawa regarding prospective changes in the government of this province. These rumors have been coming from the national capital for some time and their frequency and regularity suggest that behind the curtain which screens the activities of the Conservative party managers at Ottawa an enterprising and energetic little group of schemers is busily engaged in revising the ministry in Victoria to suit themselves. Just what the party promoters have in mind is not quite clear yet, but it will be before long. While the reports do not agree on all points, through them runs one consistent thread of prophecy, and that is that Premier Tolmie is expected to be translated to some happier sphere of activity.

There is not the slightest doubt that Premier Bennett would like to see a change in the leadership of the party in this province. Relations between him and Dr. Tolmie never have been marked by heartfelt cordiality. It is no secret that when Mr. Bennett was chosen leader of the federal Conservatives at Winnipeg he did not take kindly to Dr. Tolmie's continuance as party organizer, a post to which the Doctor was appointed by Mr. Meighen—which, it was reported in some Conservative quarters, was enough to disqualify him in Mr. Bennett's eyes. In any case, the new federal leader was unqualifiedly pleased when Dr. Tolmie was placed at the head of the provincial Conservative party, and he was suspiciously anxious for the Doctor to leave Ottawa and take up his new post without delay. Dr. Tolmie came west in his own good time and won the ensuing provincial election.

Then came the split on the fisheries treaty, with Dr. Tolmie stoutly standing for the best interests of this important industry and supported by the whole province, and Mr. Bennett, as usual, espousing the cause of special interests. Dr. Tolmie emerged completely victorious from this struggle, and had the satisfaction of hearing Mr. Bennett on the public platform in this city repudiate the attitude he had taken on this question on another platform here the year before. Mr. Bennett swallowed his medicine graciously enough, but he did not forget.

Next followed the federal elections with Mr. Bennett triumphant everywhere except in British Columbia, and it is too much to expect that he did not attribute his reverses on the Mainland to public dissatisfaction with the provincial government. Whether attached to this view was the fleeting reservation that his own policies, notably his hostility to the Australian treaty from which British Columbia was the chief beneficiary, might have had something to do with the result out here, or not, only Mr. Bennett himself knows. It is very unlikely the defeat of Mr. Stevens in Vancouver and General McRae in North Vancouver was due to Dr. Tolmie. Shortly afterward Ottawa started press reports speculating on prospective changes in the British Columbia Cabinet, and certain elements in the party on the coast began to pass resolutions criticizing the provincial government.

Then came the announcement from Ottawa that Mr. Bowser was to be the new Lieutenant-Governor. If there was any political significance in this report—which has been repeated recently—it was that Mr. Bowser was not intended to be in the new picture of British Columbia's government that the political artists at Ottawa were about to draw. Mr. Bowser, however, made it plain that he would not be embalmed at Government House, and judging from recent reports from the national capital it is recognized there that in any changes for which strings are being pulled he is likely to be a substantial factor.

But there is another Richmond in the field according to yesterday's newspaper dispatches, from Ottawa, who is none other than General McRae. It is no secret that the General, who as organizer of the federal party in the election last year was very considerably responsible for Mr. Bennett's success, was cavalierly treated by the new Prime Minister—not an exceptional experience—and he retired from federal public life. It is now reported that in the event of a cabinet readjustment in Victoria he will be the new Conservative leader, and it is even suggested that Mr. Bowser will be associated with him in the ministry. The spectacle of General McRae and Mr. Bowser co-operating in that atmosphere would be diverting, to say the least, in view of the well-remembered fact that the General's irruption into provincial politics with his Provincial Party was largely the cause of Mr. Bowser's defeat at the head of the Conservative Party in the election of 1924. Of course, the political whirligig of time often effects weird changes and this may be one of them.

There remains Dr. Tolmie himself. He is undisguisedly unhappy in his present sphere and reluctantly accepted the provincial leadership, under heavy pressure. He dislikes backstairs intrigue and manoeuvering as much as he dislikes some of the prominent gentlemen whose names are mentioned in this article, and no doubt would prefer to devote his time and ability to some important post associated with the promotion of the agricultural industry of Canada. But if he did not follow his preferences he might take this course: he might suggest to the manipulators at Ottawa that the government of British Columbia is the business of the people of British Columbia, that the problems of the Dominion are formidable enough to engage the exclusive attention of the gentlemen who are now agitating themselves over political affairs in this province, and that the Bennett government has messed things up in its year of office more than the Tolmie government has in three years and should stick strictly to its own backyard. If he did this Dr. Tolmie would be entitled to three hearty cheers.

TRADE IN NEW CHANNELS

ONE WAY TO PREVENT A REPETITION in such a serious form of the present economic disturbance would be to build up a higher standard of living in the less-developed regions of the earth. This is the view expressed by Secretary Mellon at yesterday's session of the International Chamber of Commerce at Washington. He visualizes the trade of the world settling into new channels and an increase in its volume.

This aspect of the existing situation should interest Canadians. The members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce who visited the Orient a few months ago came back to Canada with an inspiring message to Canadian producers. In China and Japan they discovered an almost unlimited field for the commodities this country grows and manufactures. Exporters with enterprise and vision soon might obtain a substantial share of the business awaiting.

We are told that the low price of silver has curtailed very seriously the purchasing power of the Oriental peoples, that until something has been done to rectify this condition, trade development will be handicapped. It also has been said that the country which leads a way to remedial measures will earn the gratitude of the Orient and, by the same token, put itself in the most favorable position to profit through the extension of the helping hand.

Though Canada may not be in a position to stand alone and deal either with the standards of living in some parts of the Orient, or to tackle the silver problem single-handed, her statesmen will have an opportunity to present arguments along these lines at the Imperial Economic Conference when it meets at Ottawa in August.

It would be a thousand pities if Canada were to lose the opportunity for leadership in this regard, if all the good work accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce delegation were to go for naught. Here is the coast of British Columbia, for instance, only eight days away from the lands of teeming millions—obviously the greatest potential market in the world. It is part of Canada's heritage to be so favorably situated. If she does not avail herself of her good fortune, however, she will be recreant in her duty to the present and future generations.

A BEST SELLER

IN AN AGE OF JAZZ, SUPER-TALKIES, much make-believe and vanity, it may surprise most people that literature suited to a more or less dizzy period has to take a back seat and leave the front row for the Bible.

This is no mere speculation. Some time ago a London department store sold 10,000 copies of a beautifully bound edition of the Book of Books in six weeks, and the demand increased so that an order was placed for 100,000 copies. This is the biggest single order, the report declares, ever placed.

"There is only one book in the world," the managers stated, "of which any business firm would dare to order 100,000 copies."

If the lure of the outdoors, the automobile, and other forms of diversion have caused a decline in church attendance, there is the evidence supplied by the London department store to prove that Bible reading is not suffering.

A CASE FOR A CHANGE

IN ANY CHANGE IN THE LAW IN ITS relation to the deportation of British subjects, Canada could not surrender the right to deport immigrants who, after a few months or a year or so in the Dominion, show unfitness for citizenship, or who develop some serious mental or moral defect which would render them a charge upon, or a nuisance to, the public. But it ought to be feasible for the Dominion government to agree on a time limit for such deportations, and so remove the risk of injustice and harm which have attended a number of cases dealt with under the present regulations.

While it is quite possible that undue fuss has been made in some instances, the record shows that in others the treatment meted out to the unfortunate deportees has been nothing short of cruel. Some of them had been in the country between ten and eighteen years, with all ties with their native land, of course, completely severed. People who come to Canada at least should be able to rely upon the assurance that as long as they fulfill the requirements of good citizenship, and conduct themselves properly, they will not be treated as undesirables, even though bodily or financial misfortune may attend them after a few years' residence.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

SKINNING THE PUBLIC

The worst of it is that the government gets you coming and going. It taxes your income and then, by means of the tariff and other exactions, it taxes your outgo. First it taxes all you get and then it taxes all you spend.

MANUFACTURING IN ALBERTA
The Calgary Herald

Since 1910 there has been a steady and satisfactory development in industrial activity in Alberta, and the importance of manufacturing as an element in provincial progress is clearly discernible in this period of agri-industry and agriculture alike, but conditions would be cultural depression. It is true that hard times have hit The sections of the country where there is a diversity much more serious if all our eggs were in one basket. in activity and production will recover soonest. Were Alberta as dependent to-day on agriculture as it was in former years, conditions would be much more serious.

FRUIT-GROWING AND FREIGHT RATES
The Saint John Telegraph-Journal

New Brunswick can and should be producing more apples and other fruit. And there is no doubt that an outstanding expansion would follow an adjustment of freight and express rates which would allow the New Brunswick products to enter their logical markets in equitable competition with other fruit-growing areas in Canada and in other countries. This discrimination against maritime products to-day is grossly unfair. No effort should be spared by those in authority in this province to bring about the necessary changes so that a serious block will be removed from the progress of this industry.

A THOUGHT

Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting.—Daniel v 27.

The judgment may be compared to a clock or watch, where the most ordinary machine is sufficient to tell the hours; but the most elaborate alone can point out the minutes and seconds, and distinguish the smallest differences of time.—Fontenelle.

Loose Ends

Some good advice to Victorians—Some alarming intelligence which fails to alarm—An important demonstration out our way—and comfort for us onion growers.

By H. B. W.

THIS IS the season when every Victorian owes a duty to himself and this community. He should take a look about his city in broom-time. Go and look at the broom on Beacon Hill, in wave on wave of restless yellow. Look at the Straits from Gonzales Hill, as blue as the Olympics behind them. Look across the golf links at Oak Bay to Mount Baker, and watch the wind rippling through the acres of blue camas and yellow buttercups in the Uplands. Go and see the green fields of Saanich, rolling out to the Sooke Hills, with the great oak trees in the greenest and shiniest dress of spring. Note how the evergreens have little tips of new green needles at the points of their branches so soft and pleasant to the taste, while up above the white dogwood blossoms shoot out from the forest like a shower of white stars from a rocket. Listen to the meadow larks in the fields, with their song like running water, and the sad, plaintive good-night song of the robins at dusk. Take a look at the southern end of Vancouver Island at this most glorious season of the year, and thank whatever gods may be for the mere fact of being here, and being alive in the spring, when you might so easily be dead somewhere else. Look at it and think about it and cheer up. And next time this column says anything depressing you need pay no attention to it.

MINISTER OF LANDS LOUGHEED has recently made the most important statement which I have yet heard from any member of his government and, as I had expected, it seems to have been received without public excitement. Mr. Lougheed has said that all the estimates of the past have been proved to be fallacious, and that all our great fir forests of the coast region of British Columbia will have been cut down in twenty, and probably, fifteen years. Alas, if Mr. Lougheed has been as familiar with the public mind as with timber, he would have known that this intelligence, appalling as it is, would have little effect.

A MAN MAY plan his whole life ahead, educate himself for it, and live it. But a group of men called a nation or a province, don't seem to be able to look ahead further than the next week-end, or possibly, by a great feat of exertion, to the next election. You can't stir the public up by the news that our great coast forests, our chief source of revenue and employment, the comfort and the delight of all men who love the out-of-doors, will have been cut down in fifteen or twenty years. I don't believe you could stir the public if you could show that our Island would sink into the sea on the 1st of January, 1950. We are fond of our young so long as they remain young. What happens to them in their prime, whether they are going to have any timber or whether they are going to be wiped out in another war of our making, seems curiously unimportant to us in the mass.

YOU WILL probably find that we shall begin to wake up to our timber situation about ten years before the end, at which time we shall appoint a royal commission to investigate it. And appended to the commission's report on how to conserve our timber will be a final clause regretting that since the commission started work, the last tree was cut.

A GENTLEMAN out our way has lately been demonstrating, in a rather grisly fashion, the essential madness of this age. At some expense he has erected about his place of business on the main road a vast billboard, on which is painted an imaginary and startling piece of mountain scenery, with a lake in the foreground, snow-capped peaks in the background and vivid color everywhere. And this creation, mark you, is so placed at a turn in the road that it hides a magnificent view of Mount Douglas and the smiling fields of Saanich about its base.

BUT I DO not blame the gentleman who is responsible for this thing. He is only adopting in his small way the accepted method of our times. In front of the magnificent scenery of Saanich, we place a signpainter's conception of scenery. In place of maintaining our health by natural means and sane living, we prefer to cure ourselves with drugs innumerable and incredible. In place of the natural color of healthy skin, we paint our women's faces. In place of living people on the stage we prefer moving shadows which talk an unearthly language. In place of music in our homes, which we can play ourselves, we turn on the radio to hear second-hand sounds from afar. In place of making things with our own hands and minds and saving our souls in the process, we use a substitute turned out by a vast machine a thousand miles away. I look to the day when, in the full flower of this civilization, the main road to Sidney will be lined with billboards a hundred feet high, blocking the view on either side. But do not be alarmed. We have a fine taste in these things. They will all picture the charming scenery of Saanich in much more vivid and striking colors than the original.

IT MUST have been quite cheering to the human family to hear from Sir James Jeans, the distinguished British scientist, that while the universe is crumbling into nothingness, still, it will not have crumbled entirely for another million years or so. My confidence was so restored, indeed, that I went out immediately and planted an extra row of onions. Still more satisfactory is the announcement of Professor Einstein who, when asked "Do you believe that the world will end in ultimate atrophy, or that the substance of the world is undergoing a process of regeneration and rebirth?" replied: "The results so far achieved from the theory of heat do not, I feel, justify this extrapolation, except insofar as we consider as a final consequence the assumptions held tenable at the present time and again." And also: "When I consider space hypothetically as the reality, I do so from the standpoint of theoretical physics; but I do not consider this as the reality per se." After that everything seems so clear. I shall have no hesitation now in sowing a third row of onions.

PROFANITY OF THE RADIO

To the Editor:—The present craze of the mystery serial has seemingly led to a total disregard for any restraint of the revolting language found necessary to portray the enacted scenes of the horrible murders and sensational situations to be conjured up to the listeners-in.

Unfortunately young girls and boys must come across these coarse expressions whilst station-hunting and the effect on their young minds cannot be anything but harmful.

Cannot this phase of the story-tellers' art be modified? Is there no decent censorship of the radio?

CALIFORNIANS FIGHT MONDAY IN VANCOUVER

Tony Portillo and Sullivan in Terminal City For Feature Bouts

Vancouver, May 6.—Tony Portillo, the Califorina welterweight who clashes with Billy Townsend over the ten-round route at Arena here on Monday evening headlining the fistic card of three ten rounders, arrived in Vancouver to-day, and will continue his preparations here for the match.

Accompanying Portillo, is Paddy Sullivan, California featherweight, who meets Harry Marshall in one of the other ten-rounders.

Chuck Carnera of Tacoma, who meets young Alan Foston in the third ten-round bout on the card, is at present doing his training in Tacoma, and is due to arrive here Saturday.

Two four-round bouts are being arranged to round out the big fistic bill.

Seed Bed Dry On Prairies

Winnipeg, May 6.—Over the whole of the grain-growing areas of western Canada, from the commencement of spring operations until to-day, weather has been very unsatisfactory as high winds have been persistent with an absolute dearth of rainfall and seed has reached a seed bed lacking sufficient moisture to more than really insure sprouting. Light soil is blowing, some reseeding has been done and unless general rainfall occurs almost immediately a considerable number of farmers will require to reseed, according to the first weekly crop report issued by the Department of Agriculture, Canadian National Railways.

Royal Oak

The old-time dance held in Royal Oak Hall, under the auspices of the Royal Oak Women's Institute on Friday evening attracted about one hundred and fifty persons, and was much enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Scafe and Wilfred Barker supplied the music. Mr. Lidgate of Sidney was master of ceremonies. Another old-time dance will be held on May 22.

The dancing class organized by the Royal Oak Women's Institute and held in the hall on Tuesday evenings with Mrs. Hudson and Mr. Rendell as instructors, is proving popular with the young people of the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldfield, "Norfolk Lodge," have kindly offered their home to the Women's Auxiliary of St. Michael's Church for a silver tea to be held on May 13. There will also be home cooking and fancy work stalls.

MARKET TURN AWAITED WHILE SUIT BROUGHT

Friendly Court Action to Conserve Assets of Lumber Company on This Island

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 6.—For the purpose of conserving the assets of Wood & English Ltd. through a period of depression, suit has been commenced against the company in the B.C. Supreme Court here by J. H. Houghland, suing on behalf of bondholders.

The assets consist of a billion feet of timber, logging equipment and a sawmill at Inglewood, Vancouver Island, the whole worth approximately $3,000,000. The writ was issued by Knox Walkem.

The defendant's undertakings are subject to a charge of $1,000,000, and the plaintiff alleges there is now owing $700,000 on the bond issue.

MARKET TURN AWAITED

The action, according to Mr. Walkem, is a friendly one. While there is a large surplus of assets over liabilities, the company is short of ready cash and has been compelled to shut down operations, awaiting a more favorable turn in the market.

It was stated an application would be made in Supreme Court for the appointment of a receiver, who would take charge of the assets.

In addition to the company, other defendants cited are F. J. Wood of Bellingham, Alice K. English of Seattle, F. J. Wood as executor of the estate of Annie B. Wood, and Alice K. English, Thomas W. Doan of Duluth, James O. Hearn of Mount Vernon and Norman English, Vancouver, joined as executors of the estate of Edward G. English.

BAKER FUNERAL HELD TUESDAY

Many Tributes to Late New York Financier as Body Laid to Rest

Canadian Press

New York, May 6.—Wall Street's flags were at half mast yesterday for the funeral of the late George F. Baker. The body was buried in Kensico Cemetery.

Among those who joined in paying their last tribute were men who had sat with the late banker at financial conferences, men who had sought his advice and those who had benefited from his many philanthropies and gifts to churches, hospitals and colleges.

MANY MESSAGES

Messages continued to pour in to the Baker home from leaders of finance and industry.

Owen D. Young said to inquiries as to whether the late Mr. Baker was the richest man in the United States: "I have answered yes, the richest in accumulated wisdom, in comprehensive understanding, in wide sympathy, in integrity both of thought and act, in loyalty to his friends, in devotion to his ideals."

There was a message from John D. Rockefeller and from Charles G. Dawes, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, who cabled: "There passed the leader of a great generation of American businessmen."

BOARD CHAIRMANSHIP

There was speculation in Wall Street regarding the probable successor to the chairmanship of the board of the First National Bank of New York, a post Mr. Baker held until his death Saturday. Because of the many gifts of bank stock Mr. Baker made to his son, George F. Jr., it was thought the son would succeed to the chairmanship.

Maura Says New Spain Should Have No State Church

Madrid, May 6.—According to an interview published in the newspaper La Teirra, Miguel Maura, Minister of the Interior in the new Spanish cabinet, said he favored separation of church and state in Spain if it could be brought about without violence and after a conference with the Vatican.

Referring to divorce, the interviewer quoted Maura as saying he did not think it would be well to introduce it into Spain because of the possible consequences.

CATALONIAN PROBLEM

On the Catalonian question, the paper said, Maura asserted that while he believed a separation of the province from Spain was an "absurd hypothesis," he was willing to bend to the popular will.

"Former King Alfonso will not return to Spain," Maura said, "unless there is a complete overturning of the present popular sentiment, such as it would be idle fancy to consider.

"The republic must be conservative in its cradle."

Langford

Fires occurring in the vicinity of Metchosin, Rocky Point, Sooke, Happy Valley, Luxton, Colwood, the Highway, Malahat and Langford should be reported to W. Mudge (Phone Belmont 75) who has been appointed assistant fire ranger. Fire permits can be obtained from W. Mudge, or A. G. Mackie at the post office. Notice of fire outbreaks can also be left with William Scafe, Goldstream Road, voluntary fire warden.

Through the efforts of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute members, tea will be provided at a nominal charge to children on Wednesday at the annual Health Day sports.

The evening entertainment will start at 7.30 o'clock.

Many new members have joined the Langford Tennis Club this season, and the majority of the young people in the district are now junior members. Tea was served by members of the women's committee on Saturday afternoon. Ladder games were started on Sunday, and keen interest shown by the competitors.

Several of the Langford District Girl Guides enjoyed a swim in Langford Lake after their meeting on Saturday afternoon.

A. and M. Stewart of St. Aidan's School left on Wednesday for Sydney, Australia, where they have inherited an estate, left to them by an uncle.

TWO KINGS TALK ON THE DANUBE

Bucharest, Roumania, May 6.—King Alexander of Jugoslavia and King Carol of Roumania met yesterday by appointment and spent an hour in a motor boat on the Danube.

Their desire for privacy was so great they did not even take a boatman with them, King Carol himself acting as pilot, driving the boat up and down the river.

The meeting was described later as a "firendly chat." King Alexander is King Carol's brother-in-law.

Carol, who was said to have requested the interview, traveled from Orsova yesterday morning with Premier Jorga of Roumania. Alexander came down the river in the royal yacht.

After they had returned Alexander entertained Carol aboard his yacht.

There was widespread speculation here over the purpose of the conference.

Move to Increase Sales of Coal

New Glasgow, N.S., May 6—Favoring the adoption of some plan whereby the province of Ontario would reciprocate in sympathetic trade relations with Nova Scotia, particularly in reference to the purchase of Nova Scotia coal in central Canada, but registering disapproval of boycott methods, the council of the New Glasgow Board of Trade yesterday passed a resolution asking the co-operation of all the boards of trade, merchants and manufacturers in Nova Scotia doing business with Ontario, to solicit the co-operation of the people and manufactures in Ontario by taking a sympathetic view of any action the federal government may take in extending the market for Nova Scotia coal in central Canada.

U.S. Now Expects To Increase Its Wheat Exports

Washington, May 6.—Further indications of prospects for a good demand from foreign wheat importing countries during the next two or three months was seen to-day by the United States Department of Agriculture.

"In France," the department said yesterday in a report on world prospects "there have been two successive increases in the quota of foreign wheat which may be milled. This, together with previous relaxation of the German restrictions and other evidence of reduced stocks in continental European countries, suggests the likelihood of a well maintained import demand."

Happy Valley

The Athletic Club announce the Hustlers of Victoria (B.C. champions) will play against the Happy Valley seniors in a basketball game Saturday evening, May 9, in Luxton Hall. Also the senior girls will play the Standard Laundry girls.

The details of the third game have yet to be arranged.

It has been decided to change the date of the monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute from May 7 to May 14.

LEWISTON, IDAHO IS SCENE OF FIRE LOSS OF $175,000

Lewiston, Idaho, May 6.—A downtown fire that "stole the show" from a street carnival here yesterday evening destroyed two buildings, damaged a third and caused a loss estimated by owners at $175,000.

The blaze started in the basement of the Fashion Boot Shop, quickly destroyed that building, and spread to the F. W. Woolworth store next door. By midnight that building had bten destroyed and the Salzberg Building, housing a clothing store, a book shop and offices, was reached. The fire was checked, however, before it could gain headway in the latter building.

AGED SCHOLAR

Two years ago she started trudging two miles a day to school in the mountains near her home. She couldn't read nor write then. Now she is versed in the "three R's."

WEDDING HELD AT ST. PAUL'S

Miss Ruth Caroline Dickson Became Bride of Nelson J. Smith Yesterday

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday evening at 8 o'clock when Rev. G. F. Cox, assisted by Rev. J. B. Rowell, united in marriage Ruth Caroline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dickson, and Mr. Nelson John Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Smith, Cook Street. For the occasion, the church had been prettily decorated by friends of the bride with a profusion of flowers, several floral arches adding to the decorative scheme. During the ceremony, the bridal party stood under a lighted floral bell.

The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. Donald Dickson, and made a fascinating picture in her wedding gown of white georgette, fashioned on long lines, with full flared skirt and shoulder cape of Chantilly lace. An embroidered silk net veil was attached to her head in cap-shape and held in place with a circlet of orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley completed the bridal attire.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Margaret Dickson, who wore a frock of pale blue georgette and a picture hat of fancy lace straw. She carried a sheaf of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Cyril Moore, and the ushers were Messrs. George Dickson, brother of the bride, and Wilfrid Smith, brother of the groom. W. Dallimore presided at the organ and played the wedding marches on the arrival and departure of the bridal party, while during the signing of the register Miss Jean McGowan sang "Beloved, It Is Morn."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson, 202 Raynor Avenue, where they were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Dickson and Mrs. Smith. A profusion of flowers in a color scheme of pink and white adorned the reception rooms and the supper table was attractive with blossoms carrying out the same color note.

During the reception Miss Jean McGowan rendered several vocal solos and Miss Freda Seward contributed piano solos.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have left on a motor trip of Vancouver Island and the mainland. On their return to Victoria they will make their home on Dallas Road. For traveling the bride wore a frock of Alice blue flat crepe, a fawn travel coat trimmed with coon collar and a hat to match the color of her coat.

Florence Nightingale Chapter — At the meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., held in the headquarters on Monday, with the regent, Mrs. K. C. Symons, in the chair, ways and means were discussed to raise funds for the various charitable undertakings of the Chapter. It was decided to hold a card party, with additional guests at the tea hour, at the nurses' home at the Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday afternoon next. Tables may be reserved with Mrs. F. W. Baylis, G 3874, or Mrs. E. J. Harris, E 6526. Plans were made for the annual garden party at Hatley Park on June 17. The members held a "cent birthday" shower at the meeting, which proved very successful.

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hems; and as the part that had been turned under was darker than the rest, I redyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes Package.

"I used Diamond Dyes for the redyeing, of course. I have dyed many things with these wonderful colors. They have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give perfect results—smooth, even colors—fast to wear and washing. Friends think my things are new when I redye or tint them with Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors!"—Mrs. G. C., Levis, Quebec. (Advt.)

WOMEN URGED TO "HOUSE-CLEAN" THE DOMINION

Mrs. Miriam G. Ellis Reviews Economic Conditions Before Women's Canadian Club

Women's responsibility in "house-cleaning" Canada during the present time of economic upheaval was brought to the attention of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon in an illuminating address by Mrs. Miriam Green Ellis, well-known Winnipeg journalist. Mrs. P. B. Scurrah presided at the gathering and presented the speaker with a beautiful bouquet on behalf of the club.

CANADA A VAST HOME

Mrs. Ellis happily chose to compare Canada with a nine-roomed house for the purpose of emphasizing her analogy of the Dominion as a vast home in itself. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick she compared to the rugged entrance porch, with Prince Edward Island as a beautiful little summer house. Quebec is the formal drawing room, with its historic pictures on the wall, its dignity and its traditions; Ontario, with its financial institutions and its universities, the living room where the business of the home is conducted. Manitoba, the speaker compared to the dining-room, Saskatchewan as the kitchen with its well-stocked flour bins, Alberta as the store room with its extra barrels of flour and gasoline, and British Columbia as the sun porch from which one could get a wonderful view towards the Orient.

Canada had been a comfortable and well-regulated home, said Mrs. Ellis, and she carried her analogy farther to urge the women to help in house-cleaning the Dominion and rid it of the chaos which had followed the economic upheaval. When times were good there was a tendency to spend too much money, and when times were bad it was necessary to recoup and to meet the debts accumulated in times of prosperity, an adjustment which was as essential in public affairs as in private financing.

FACTORS IN DEPRESSION

Mrs. Ellis touched upon some of the factors which had contributed to the world depression, pointing out that Australia thinks if she could get a higher price for her wool her troubles would be over, while Canada thinks that a higher price for her wheat would go far towards the solution of her difficulties. Russian competition, Germany's attitude on reparations, world agricultural depression and unemployment, were all factors in the present condition of affairs, observed the speaker, who noted that the interdependence of nations one upon the other was another big factor to be considered.

INTERNAL RELATIONS

Economic relations with other countries would gradually readjust themselves, Mrs. Ellis presaged, but in the meantime every citizen should realize his and her responsibility in building up the economic stability of Canada. Conditions in Canada needed attention, with Nova Scotia declaring its intention of severing relations with Ontario if the latter province did not buy its coal, the west "a bit belligerent and bewildered towards the east," the spectacle of the prairies asking a set price for wheat and everyone looking for protection for his own particular industry.

As a start in the house-cleaning process, Mrs. Ellis suggested a cessation of the tendency to run to governments every time anything is wanted. "The government should not be asked to provide all the luxuries in the way of social services, roads, etc. We should learn to do some of those things ourselves. We might well copy the initiative of the Old Country when it comes to providing 'luxuries.' Look at that magnificent building, the Albert Hall in London, which was financed solely by private funds. The British Government was not asked to erect it."

CANADA'S STRENGTH

Sir Josiah Stamp had declared that, in his recent journey to Winnipeg to investigate the question of grain futures trading, the thing which impressed him most about Canada was its strength. The strength and the promise of Canada were two things which should encourage the women to devote their united efforts to a satisfactory "house-cleaning" of Dominion affairs, said Mrs. Ellis in conclusion.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, gold medal soprano, sang with flute-like sweetness "My True Love" (Hadley), and in response to insistent demands, a double encore, including the quaint old Scottish lullaby, "Canaye Sew Cushions?" and "An Old Song" (Carpenter). Mrs. C. C. Warn accompanied Mrs. Wilson in her own inimitable style and was included in the little vote of thanks expressed to the singer by Mrs. Scurrah.

AGED WOMEN'S HOME RE-ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Thirty-third Annual Meeting Held Yesterday; Mrs. W. L. Clay Again President

Seventy-six Inmates Cared For During Year, Reports Show

All officers were re-elected by acclamation at the thirty-third annual meeting of the committee of the Aged Women's Home held in the institution yesterday afternoon. Officers for the ensuing year will again be: Hon. president, Mrs. Harriet Carne; president, Mrs. W. L. Clay; first vice-president, Mrs. S. Leiser; second vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Vincent; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Whittier.

SEVENTY-SIX INMATES

Mrs. Whittier's report noted that seventy-six inmates had been cared for during the year, with an average of sixty-five. Of these seven had left to join relatives or friends and seven had passed away. "Miss Robb, the matron, and Miss Patterson, the assistant matron, have been as efficient as ever in the fulfilling of their very arduous duties, and the whole staff have done wonderful work in caring for and helping those under their charge.

"There have been twelve regular meetings of the committee held during the year. The visiting committee consists of three members, who act for three months, one new member going on each month, and they attend to all the internal arrangements. The committee have again been able to make many improvements and alterations to the Home, which all add to the comfort and appearance of the Home," continued the report.

MANY KIND FRIENDS

"The Ministerial Association have as usual been most kind in arranging services each Sunday afternoon, which are much appreciated by the many who are unable to get out to the church services. The Salvation Army also hold a service each Tuesday afternoon, as well as visit and supply literature to the shut-in inmates. The annual book shower and tea was held October 29, and was a most successful affair, upwards of 200 books being added to the collection. The Christmas season was a very bright and happy one for all those in the Home, thanks to the generosity of numerous kind friends. Thanks are again extended to Joe North for the outings he arranged for the inmates, and to Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart for the invitation to their beautiful gardens and to the entertainment and supper while there, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

"Thanks are due The Colonist and The Times for copies of the papers daily, and to the members of the Rotary Club for the fine radio they so generously donated and which is much enjoyed, also to all friends who have in any way contributed to the happiness of our aged shut-in inmates," concluded the report.

Mrs. Clay, the president, in reviewing the year's activities said, in part: "In a quiet, unobtrusive way we are carrying on a work second to none in importance and necessity in the community."

She made reference to the celebration of the one hundredth birthday of the honorary president, Mrs. H. Carne. "To her, to Mrs. I. A. Gould, to Mrs. Wm. Grant and the late Mrs. Goodacre, we owe a debt of gratitude for the founding and organization of this Home, which for more than thirty years has met a tremendous need, not only in Victoria, but throughout the province."

KING MAY NOT ATTEND COURTS

Debutantes May Curtsey to Queen and Prince of Wales.

Windsor, Eng., May 6.—Matrons and debutantes who will be presented at the first two courts of this season, May 19 and 20, may find themselves curtesying to the Prince of Wales instead of King George. It was reported to-day that because of the recent illness of the King it was still undecided whether or not he would be able to attend the first two courts.

Should the physicians finally decide the King's condition was such as to make his attendance unwise, the courts would be held by the Queen and the Prince of Wales.

In Spain...beauty experts insist on olive and palm oils to keep that schoolgirl complexion

Tejero advises you: "Massage a fine lather of Palmolive into the skin—so—rinse it off with refreshing clear water—to icy-cold temperature. A bit of cream (if you need it for a powder base). There! That leaves skin smooth, naturally fresh and lovely."

Luis Tejero

Evidence of that schoolgirl complexion is found over and over again in the olive-tinted, warm color of the lovely Spanish senorita.

Tejero, whose beauty salon is visited by many of the most important women of Spain.

TEJERO, the famous Barcelona beauty specialist, becomes indignant when his smart clients do not follow his advice. "How dare you mistreat your complexion," he storms, with the Spaniard's fiery spirit, "when it is so easy to use this twice-a-day treatment!"

The treatment to which he refers is stressed by 23,723 beauty specialists, the world over. Before all else, they emphasize the need of pure soap and water for foundation cleanliness. Every one of them considers Palmolive best.

Specialists use it in their own homes and in their salon work. They suggest it to their patrons for home use. The creams and other toilet preparations that they advise are made of these same famous cosmetic oils . . . olive and palm.

Simply massage a lather of Palmolive and warm water into the face and throat. Rinse with warm water, then colder. Never fail to observe this rule of cleanliness before retiring.

Then watch the fresh, glowing loveliness of that schoolgirl complexion return!

Because so inexpensive, Palmolive is the natural choice of experts as a soap for the bath. It protects sensitive skins from irritation.

Made in Palmolive's Canadian factory, one of the finest soap factories in the world.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

DIET IS USUALLY TO BLAME FOR CONSTIPATION

Three letters in succession wail about constipation! One child is obviously underfed. The second refuses to sit on the stool at all, a behavior instead of a constipation problem. The last has one daily movement and the mother thinks she should have two.

That is as good a cross-section as one could deliberately choose to illustrate the problems of constipation: Underfeeding; behavior situation; too much expected of the child. Because a mother is always looking for it, constipation is pretty certain to be a bugaboo at some time or another in the child's life. It would vanish as quickly as it appears if the mother looked more closely at the diet and at the child's daily habits, and recognized that age and change may also affect habits without necessarily destroying them.

DIET OFTEN TO BLAME

The thing that most often introduces constipation as a problem is a faulty diet. Underfed babies are naturally constipated. It is not doses of laxatives, but more food that they need. Babies whose formulas are out of kilter, over-balanced by some one element or the other, very often suffer from a sort of constipation. The ailment disappears when the mother recognizes it as a feeding problem and alters the formula, or changes the whole day's diet to conform more closely to the ideal one for the child's age and weight.

Muscles made lazy by having thier work done for them, instead of doing it themselves, cause much persistent constipation. We expect other muscles of the child's body to act, providing the child is healthy, well-fed and has fresh air and exercise. Why should we always consider that the muscles of the intestine must have artificial aids to do their work? That attitude seems to be one of the complexes incident to our civilization.

Let us set up inadequate food, then, as the foremost cause of constipation, complicated and perpetuated by resorting to artificial aids rather than improving the diet. Plenty of food is usually all the stimulus the child's system needs to encourage bowel activity.

Then habits differ. One child may have four regular movements daily, while another has but one. Our muscular systems differ, and naturally it is not necessary to use any particular corrective to force each child to be the exact pattern of another.

REGULARITY IMPORTANT

Regularity of habit is obviously one of the most valuable aids in overcoming constipation. Regularity of feeding leads to regularity of bowel habits. Peristalsis (the muscular movement which carries the intestinal contents forward) starts the moment the stomach begins its work and it is quite natural for a movement to follow a feeding. Either food or water is apt to stimulate bowel action.

Mrs. M. C. R. relates how she overcame constipation in her seven-month-old child when she changed from a diluted milk formula to boiled, whole milk. In addition she offered the juice of half an orange in three ounces of water on an empty stomach.

Fruit juices, when given on an empty stomach, are excellent natural laxatives. Bulky cereals and vegetables are also helpful. Regular feedings in adequate amounts to induce a good gain, attention to the bowels at regular and natural intervals, and the use of foods with a laxative effect are natural aids to bowel activity which can banish the bugaboo of constipation.

Queen Alexandra Review.—The regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Review No. 1 Women's Benefit Association, was held in the K. of C. Hall Monday evening with Mrs. McQueen Todd in the chair. It was decided to continue the regular meetings during the summer months, the members not wishing to get out of touch with the work. Splendid convention and rally reports were received and hearty appreciation extended to the press and all workers for their assistance in such a successful issue. A whisper that the Supreme President, accompanied by Mr. Miller, may visit Victoria again at a much earlier date than expected, is causing keen delight. An expression of sympathy was forwarded to Mrs. Caroline O'Brien, provincial deputy, on the serious illness of her brother, the result of an accident in Portland. Plans are being arranged for a rally in Washington later in the year, when the mainland and island reviews will participate. On May 18 a social evening will be held, when all members are asked to be present.

Daughters of St. George.—Victoria Lodge No. 83, Daughters of St. George, held their regular meeting in Harmony Hall Monday evening, Worthy President Sister Skelland presiding. Five proposals for membership were received, and the relief committee reported Sister Levy still a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital. A whist drive and silver tea was arranged to be held at Mrs. G. Penketh's, 2517 Blanshard Street, tomorrow evening at 8.30 o'clock.

RELIEF IN APRIL COST $2,000 MORE THAN LAST YEAR

Friendly Help Finds Funds Much Depleted By Heavy Demands, Report Shows

Over $2,000 more was spent in relief during April of this year than in the corresponding month last year, according to the report presented at the monthly meeting of the Friendly Help Society yesterday. In consequence of the demand made through unemployment conditions, the funds of the association are very low and cash donations would be most gratefully welcomed.

MANY CASES HELPED

There is still a great demand for men's clothing and shoes. The single men manage to get food, but can not buy clothes. In April 252 families, representing 868 persons, were assisted, 566 grocery orders were issued, 115 fuel orders, 434 meat orders, 80 families got milk daily, 43 families were given clothing, 118 families received provisions from the rooms, including Easter gifts, milk, vegetables, seeds and meat; 20 families got sundry articles, 34 women got clothing only, three of these from Saanich; 68 lone men got clothing only, three of these from Saanich, said the secretary's report.

"It was our privilege also to assist in other ways. A young lad was able to enjoy a trip with the scouts and a uniform was found for him. Through the kindness of Mrs. Seward, Sooke, two goats and kids were placed in homes where goat's milk would be beneficial; Mr. Ribbans kindly delivering them for us. Employment was found for two young girls and one boy. One woman was placed in the Home for Aged and Infirm. One man was placed in the Old Men's Home. Glasses were needed for two women and two men, and applications sent from our office to the Institute for the Blind for B.C., made it possible for them to receive the same."

The society acknowledge with grateful thanks the sum of $64.25 received from the Hudson's Bay Beaver Club, proceeds from the concert; also $40 from the Kiwanis charity football game. Mrs. C. E. Whitaker, 1509 Rockland Avenue, very kindly offered to arrange a silver tea to augment the funds of the association on Saturday, May 30, from 3 to 6 p.m.

Cathedral W.A. Hear Miss Turner On Honolulu

An open meeting of the Senior W.A. of Christ Church Cathedral was held Monday afternoon in the Memorial Hall, which was opened with prayers read by the president, Mrs. J. H. Hinton. Miss Alice Turner gave an informal talk on her recent visit to Honolulu and her impressions of the church and school life in the island, which had impressed her both by its friendly and truly Christian spirit, and is having an effect of deep value to the whole community.

Miss Turner spoke of the problem of the ever-increasing Japanese population, and of the widespread faith in the Buddhist religion, with which the Christian missions have to cope. The short visit of Bishop and Mrs. Hamilton was a great pleasure to Miss Turner and Miss Macklem, and proved a source of inspiration to the bishop and clergy in Honolulu.

The thanks of the meeting were expressed to Miss Turner at the close of her address, and a warm welcome home was accorded to her. Two songs, by Mrs. W. E. H. Godson, which followed Miss Turner's address, were greatly enjoyed. Tea was served by a committee of members, Mrs. Gardiner and Miss Moore pouring tea, which concluded a pleasant afternoon's programme.

Gonzales Chapter—Routine business was dealt with yesterday at the monthly meeting of the Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E. The regent, Mrs. Tyrwhitt Drake, presided, and there was a good attendance of members. Plans were outlined for the chapter's autumn activities and members were reminded of the need for preparing during the summer for the box of clothing given every fall to child welfare.

Holden Heads Hurlers, But He Muffed on Old Wooden Face Last Year

Bowlers Finish Scattering Pins for League Season; Wilson's High Average

THOSE of the faithful who turned out to watch the Elks and Tillicums go through their paces in their first clash on Monday evening were treated to as good a brand of ball as anyone could wish for their 1931 debut. After cracking out runs in the first innings, the heavy guns of both teams failed to stop a line of ciphers going up on the score board.

Leo Holden's pitching, to a large extent, told the story of the Elk's duck eggs, while smart fielding behind the steady pegging of Art Webster, wrote the same tale for the Tillicums.

Holden had much more than the cover on the ball all through the game and tossed down some fast breaks that sent him into the lead in the pitching contests with ten strike-outs.

Last year Leo took a fling, or a series of flings at The Times "Old Wooden Face," and try as he could, he failed to lodge more balls in the little canvas sack than the average kid. And he was in midseason form then.

Wonder how he felt when Jack Morgan went to the plate. Last season Jack smacked out a trio of Holden's offerings for as many round trips.

Norm Forbes, star twirler for the Elks, was out of the game with a wrenched back, sustained when he was working out earlier in the week. Ball followers are hoping to see him back shortly.

Norm has been tossing good ball for the last twelve years. When he was a high school lad he was one of the big shots on the old K. of P. nine. Last season he pitched a no-hit-no-run game.

Just before the season started, Art Minnis and Art Webster decided to give up the game. They played well for the Elks on Monday. All of which goes to show that in the summer a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of ball, whether he likes it or not.

* * *

Another feature of the game was the appearance of more of the demobilized Jokers' players on different line-ups. They seem to add materially to the strength of existing squads of diamond dusters.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Race drivers who compete in the Indianapolis Memorial Day races, pay $200 a day for $10,000 worth of insurance from Lloyds of England, but they need it only for a day.

The Lake Forest Country Club of Cleveland offered Denny Shute $10,000 a year to become its pro—and Denny took it, with the modification in his contract that teaching was to be secondary to the development of his own game.

Gen. Clinnin, head of the Illinois Athletic Commission, will be ready to welcome Mickey Walker into the heavyweight picture just as soon as the Mick disposes of Maxie Rosenbloom. But the Rosenbloom and Walker people are all good friends, you see—not that a Walker-Rosenbloom bout would be the first time good friends met in a prize ring.

All senior bowling leagues in the city have named their champions for the season and from now on main interest in the handsome emporium put up by the Olympic Recreations Limited last year will be mainly centred in special competitions, grudge matches and possibly summer series.

This will be the first year Victoria has had bowling the year round. The game has taken the town by the heels in the season now finishing and every man and his neighbor has taken up the game. The gents who put up the new alleys are due for a bouquet in this regard.

Not only has the season marked a large advance in the game here, but it also culminated in the first appearance of a Victoria team in an international tournament played in the United States. The Capitals squad which went to Portland put up a fair showing, copped a little of the money, and came back with high hopes for next year.

So far, George Wilkinson's band of five-pin tossers seem to be head and crop above the flock in the small-ball game. They repeated their league victory of last year with apparent ease. In the city ten-pin league, it was also a year for repeaters, with the Night Owls again taking the honors. The Arcades had a walkaway in the Olympic ten-pin league.

In passing, a note might be made of the steady performance of Ron Wilson, Arcade lead-off man, who scattered the pins for an average of 191 for the season. That total is good in any man's language.

* * *

Followers of the game look for a big boost in the ten-pin department when the boys get down to business again in the fall. The commercial loop has developed some creditable pin-spillers who will be in senior company next season and efforts will be made to get an eight or ten-team league in action.

SOFTBALLERS TO MEET TO-MORROW

Schulmerich Hits Out Victory For Boston In Ninth

His Homer and Triple Feature 5 to 4 Decision; Giants Walk Over Brooklyn to Come Within Half Game of Cardinals; Yanks Trim Senators in National to Send Them to Fifth Place; George Earnshaw Turns in Brilliant Performance for Athletics to Beat Red Sox 4 to 1

By GAYLE TALBOT Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

Where, Boston fans were asking to-day, has this Wesley Schulmerich been for the last three weeks?

They had their first glimpse of "Wes" just two days ago, when he appeared in right field for the Braves and knocked in a run that helped beat the Phillies, 4 to 3. They saw him for the second time yesterday, when he hit a home run in the sixth inning and then tripled in the ninth to drive in the score that licked the Phillies again, 5 to 4.

The big outfielder, who hit .377 for Los Angeles last season, had been riding the bench ever since the Braves got home from the south.

The National League race tightened around the top as the Giants made it two straight from Brooklyn, 8 to 0, and the Cardinals were idle for the second time. Only a half-a-game separated them to-day. Freddy Fitzsimmons held the Robins to three hits. Chicago's Cubs clung to third by downing Cincinnati again, 8 to 4.

SENATORS DROP DOWN

In the American League the Washington Senators took a one-sided trimming from the Yankees and dropped from second place to fifth. The champion Athletics took advantage of the excitement to move into third place.

In winning their first game from the Senators since early last September, 18 to 8, the Yanks pounded four pitchers for nineteen hits, including homers by Gehrig and Reese. Babe Ruth cleared the bases with a mighty double in the second inning.

George Earnshaw turned in a brilliant performance as the Athletics defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 1. He allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Earl Webb, and struck out ten.

Cleveland held its two-game advantage over the field by outscoring the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6. Burnett, Averill and Fonseca led a seventeen-hit assault on three Brown pitchers.

Long distance hitting and Urban Faber's fine relief hurling featured the White Sox, 7 to 3 victory over Detroit. Faber allowed only one hit and no runs after relieving Fraser in the fifth inning.

Open Twilight League With 7 to 2 Victory Over Taiyos at Royal Athletic

Second Inning Rally Puts Winners Well in Lead and Japanese Falter

Victoria Indians took the opener of the Victoria Twilight League from the Taiyos yesterday evening at the Royal Athletic Park when they scored seven runs, while their opponents were only able to garner two. Two singles and a free pass issued by Ishida in the second inning helped the Indians gather the harvest. Okamoto, with his overthrow to first, allowed two men to come home. Both teams played fast ball at all times and the large crowd that attended was kept on its toes.

Alderman James Adams and Alderman John Worthington composed the battery that officially opened the league with Hon. W. A. McKenzie, the batter. When Ald. Worthington burned his fast outcurves down the alley Mr. McKenzie swung wildly three times and was declared out by Umpire Wally Simpson. The teams then took the field with the Indian at bat.

Cooper scored the first tally of the game when Thomas hit a Texas leaguer which bounced off the third sack man's knee and went out to centre field. Although they gathered a hit the Japanese team was forced out without a run in the first. The second was the big time for the Indians. After getting two singles and a walk George and Jackson came home on an overthrow from third to first. Albany also scored.

TAIYOS SCORE

Kozuki with a two-bagger and S. Ashikawa with a walk scored in the second for the Japanese and gave them their only tallies of the game. Ishida, who had been pitching fairly good ball up to this time, was replaced at the beginning of the third inning by "Majestic" Ashikawa. Ishida, when he left the mound, had four strikeouts to his credit. Pitcher Williams, the first man up in the third, poled out a long drive along the first-base line to circle the bases without stopping.

Two strikeouts by Williams and a sacrifice fly by S. Ashikawa forced the Japanese to retire in the fourth without a run. The Indians added to their score when they got two more tallies in the fourth and fifth. The game was called in the sixth inning on account of darkness.

The Garage League champions of 1929 and 1930, the Fords, will meet Automotives in the second game of the league to-morrow evening when they make their debut at the Royal Athletic Park at 6.15.

Duncan and Esquimalt Clash Here Saturday In Jackson Cup Final

Great Crowd of Soccer Fans Expected at Royal Athletic Park Saturday to See One of Last Games of Season; Local Team Favored to Win

The hard and fast playing soccer aggregation from Esquimalt will clash with Duncan on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock to battle for the coveted Jackson Cup at Royal Athletic Park. This will be one of the last games of the season and soccer fans are expected to flock to see this struggle. The Dockers will have one more game to play after this one has gone by the boards. They will travel to New Westminster the following week, where they will bid for the provincial championship with the Royals of the Fraser River City.

Saturday's game will be one of the best that has been seen in Victoria for a long time if pre-game reports are to be believed. The Drydock boys have been turning in good performances throughout the season, being extended by the Jokers to win the City League by a single point. In the Province Cup series they pushed aside the much-tooted St. Saviours and then sent down to oblivion the great third division mainland champions, the Renfrew Argyles.

Games in the Jackson Cup series have been marred by trouble and the subsequent loss of Skipper Joe Crowe and Wes. Harper of the Thistles. These two hard-working players were banned for a year and a month respectively by the football moguls after the Thistles had walked off the field in the semi-final game with the Esquimalt boys. The Saanich team was leading 1 to 0 at the time of the disturbance, and when Referee McKay awarded a penalty to the Dockers the suburbanites walked off the field.

HARD PLAYING SQUAD

By dint of hard playing the Duncan squad defeated the Victoria City team in a game of first class football. The result of the game between the Upislanders and the locals is in doubt as both teams produce first division soccer, but as a result of their showing in the last few games the locals will be slight favorites when the teams take the field on Saturday.

The lineup of the teams is not finally decided as yet, but the probable lineup of the Esquimalt squad will be as follows: Louise de Costa, who has proved such a sensation in football circles, will be in position in front of the net with Joe Watt and Clyde Nichol in front of him as fullbacks. Don Hosmer will be at the right half position with lanky "Scotty" Nurse and Darrel Mesher across the field at centre half and left half respectively. Bob Stewart will be on the right wing with "Scotty" Stewart on the inside. Either John Watt or "Tubby" Stevens will play the key position with Boyd and "Mike" Wagland on the left.

The Duncan team will not be known until a few minutes before the game, but the same team that has been playing all season is expected to be in uniform for the final game.

Goes Down Twice For Nine Counts But Wins Fight

Los Angeles, May 6.—Raymond Montaya, San Diego 120-pounder, fought a stirring ten-round draw here yesterday evening with Ernie Hood of Pasadena. Hood weighed 116½.

Montaya was felled for nine counts twice in the ninth round, but an early lead and a terrific rally in the tenth during which he battered Hood mercilessly, made it even up.

HEAVIES DRAW

San Jose, Calif., May 6.—Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight, and Pete Cerkan of Portland, fought a ten-round draw here yesterday evening. Fuente piled up an early lead when he outboxed Cerkan and tied up the Portland puncher. A late rally during which Cerkan jarred the Mexican in two rounds, earned him a draw. Fuente weighed 196, Cerkan 175.

U.S. Sweeps Tennis Series With Mexico

Mexico City, May 6.—The United States made a clean sweep of its Davis Cup series with Mexico yesterday, Frank X. Shields of New York and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, winning the last two singles matches to make the score five matches to none.

Allison disposed of Ricardo Tapia, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3, in the last singles match after Shields had beaten Manuel Acosta, 6-3, 6-0, 6-3.

To Get Headline Chance in South

ALBIE DAVIES

San Jose, Cal., May 6.—Albie Davies, flashy, Victoria, B.C., featherweight fighter, made his debut here yesterday evening against Stan Notos, well-known California boxer, by taking an easy decision in a fast six-round bout. Davies displayed fine form, both on the defensive and offensive, and was awarded the call with plenty to spare. Notos, who has verdicts over Ritchie King and Joe Marcus, the Portland terror, was tied up by Davies from the first gong to the last. By his one-sided victory, Davies will be given a headliner in the near future against a suitable opponent.

MONCTON WILL HAVE STRONG HOCKEY TEAM

Eastern City Secures Westerners to Built Up Good Allan Cup Threat

Five Elmwood Millionaires Included in Squad; Port Arthur Gets New Men

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, May 6.—One complete hockey team is ready to vacate its Winnipeg home and take up residence in far east Moncton, N.B. Planning to play amateur hockey for Moncton next winter, eight western athletes will settle down in the Maritime city in what they hope is time to secure playing cards from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. According to the residence clause, they have until May 15 to take up residence.

Five of the east-bound octette are from Winnipeg—all stars of the famed Elmwood Millionaires' club. Young "Duke" McDonald, sturdy centre of the Memorial Cup winners, is the only one who has had no senior experience. Monty Muckle, right winger; Bill Gill and Len Burrage, defence men, and Jimmy Foster, goalie, played with Elmwood seniors last season.

Joe McIntosh, rated one of the most promising forwards in Manitoba, played left wing for Brandon Wheat Kings, and "Red" and Norm Cook, forwards from Yorkton, Sask., were outstanding in Saskatchewan "Big Six" competition. This trio will go along with the departing "Peg" players.

Moncton, with a new arena and a new team, may be rated an Allan Cup "favorite" in the summer books.

GO TO PORT ARTHUR

Port Arthur, Ont., May 6.—Herbie Langner, Kenora boy, who tended goal for the Port William senior team last winter; Bill Allen, also of Kenora, and Gus Saxberg, Fort William, who played at Kenora and Weyburn, have signed certificates to play with Port Arthur seniors next winter. Residents of Kenora are eligible to play here under the residence clause, owing to the fact that Kenora is in this district and has no senior team of its own.

Langner comes to Port Arthur because Gordon Hacquiol, former goaltender here, has expressed a desire to play with his home team, Port William.

Tickets for the reunion may be obtained from Mr. Cameron, Mr. Cruickshanks, Archie Wills, Bobby Ross, Alf Dowell, Wilbur Dawson or Albert Jones.

RISKO PUNCHES OUT DECISION OVER MAX BAER

Clevelander Lands Telling Blows on Californian as Schmeling and 7,000 Watch

Cleveland, May 6.—With Champion Max Schmeling and about 7,000 others looking on, Max Baer, young Los Angeles heavyweight, lost a judges' decision to Johnny Risko, Cleveland veteran, in a scheduled ten-round bout here yesterday evening.

Baer landed first with a left jab and right cross at the start of the first round. After trading light lefts Baer landed half a dozen hard rights to the jaw and ear. Risko landed a left to the jaw and they sparred to the bell.

Risko pounded Baer with rights and lefts, mostly to the body, landing nine positive blows to seven for Baer during the second. Baer aimed mostly at Risko's jaw.

Baer landed seven rights and lefts early in the third and had Johnny retreating, but Risko rushed him to a neutral corner and had the advantage in a mix-up at close quarters during the last half.

They banged away at close quarters through most of the fourth, Max centering on the head and Risko dividing attention between nose and ribs.

Between exchanges of jabs in the fifth Baer socked Johnny with a hard right to the body, following up with three jolting blows to the head.

Baer outfought Risko at close range as they set a fast pace at the bell.

Baer outpunched Risko at close range during the sixth, but Johnny landed frequently from a distance. Both played largely for the head. Risko ended the round with both fists to Max's middle.

Hooks and jabs between frequent rough clinches marked most of the seventh during which Risko landed a majority of the more solid punches.

MAX WRESTLES

Baer almost wrestled Johnny to the floor in a clinch early in the eighth, but Risko twice shook Max with stabbing rights and lefts. Max had the better of two infighting sessions.

In the ninth round they sparred and clinched several times but Risko came through with several rights and lefts to Baer's jaw and was outmauling Max at close quarters at the bell.

Risko was wrestled to the floor in a clinch early in the final round, but came up belting the Californian with left and right wallops to the jaw. Baer again had the close-up margin but Johnny landed the most long blows.

ROSENBLOOM BEATS LOMSKI

Portland, Ore., May 6.—Maxie Rosenbloom, world's light heavyweight champion, punched out a ten-round decision over Leo Lomski, Aberdeen assassin, here yesterday evening.

Rosenbloom's title was not at stake. Lomski had only two good rounds, the second and the seventh, landing several left-hand punches. The rest of the way Rosenbloom cuffed and slapped his opponent and won by a wide margin.

New Features Arranged For Greatest Cricket Year

Vancouver Auroras, University School And B.C. Team Tour

Special Features Will Begin Here With Tour of Islands by Auroras Starting on June 29 and Will Finish up With Inter-city Match Between Victoria and Vancouver on September 7; Several Cricket Weeks Will Be Held With Interprovincial Tourney Here Outstanding Event

Further activities planned by the B.C. Cricket Association will add still more interest to the game in this city, it was announced by George Wilkinson, secretary, this morning. Tours of the Vancouver Aurora Club, the University School and the B.C. representative teams, all of whom will play fixtures on the Island, in addition to those previously announced, have been arranged and will increase the enthusiasm of followers of the game here.

The complete programme for the year, with dates, released to-day, follows:

June 29 to July 5—Tour of the Island by the Aurora Club of Vancouver.

July 1 to July 14—Tour of the interior by the University School.

July 1—Intercity cricket between Victoria and Vancouver in Victoria.

July 6 to July 11—B.C. Cricket Week in Vancouver.

July 13 to July 18—North Shore Cricket Week in Vancouver.

August 3 to August 8—Interprovincial tournament in Victoria.

August 10 to August 15—Cowichan Cricket Week.

August 17 to August 22—Tour of Island by B.C. representative team.

August 24 to August 29—Tour of the interior by B.C. representative team.

September 7—Intercity game between Victoria and Vancouver in Vancouver.

AURORAS ARE GOOD

With the Vancouver Auroras coming here to open the big fixtures, the season should get away to a good start as far as major attractions are concerned. The team, composed to a large extent of former public school boys of Great Britain, is reported to be one of the best on the mainland and should furnish plenty of competition for Victoria and Island elevens.

Enthusiasts here will follow with great interest the progress of the University School in its tour of the interior. This will be the first time a school team of Victoria has made such a trip. It is expected to promote the game in British Columbia and to develop the young players of the University School who displayed their talent last Saturday by sending the Incogs down to defeat.

The intercity matches and cricket weeks at North Shore and Cowichan are expected to draw many first class teams of this city to the two centres, while the interprovincial tournament will undoubtedly be the most outstanding cricket event staged here for many years.

After competing in the interprovincial tournament, the B.C. team will display its merits before enthusiasts of all parts of the Island in its tour before crossing over to the mainland to give exhibitions in different towns in the province.

In addition to these fixtures, the regular Victoria and District Cricket Association will continue its season's play and the Wednesday League will have matches each week. From all appearances the year promises to be the biggest cricketers have seen here.

WILL APPEAR WITH ENGLISH TEAM HERE

ERNEST W. HINE

This Yorkshire lad, a strong and skilful forward, who will play with the touring English soccer team here on June 24, is considered by club managers a first class man. Many of these astute officials would like to have him on their books, but for several years he has been attached to Leicester City and was given his chance in the middle of April.

A "mon fra' Barnsley" he was born at a place called Smithies and was picked up by the second division club, after figuring in local junior games for the season of 1921-22. He remained until he was transferred to Leicester City in January, 1926 and scored twice for them in his first match against Burnley. A consistent marksman, he obtained 127 goals for Leicester City in five seasons, and has never been so successful as in his last campaign.

His usual position is that of inside-right and he filled that berth for England against Wales in the autumn of 1929 and was then chosen for the great inter-league match against Scotland. Occasionally at need he has taken over the duties of centre-forward. Wherever he may be, Hine believes in the shortest route to goal and quickness in using the ball. He prefers direct methods and is known as a "first time shot." His motto is" have at 'em." When he wishes to be leisurely he turns to his niblick and putter. He stands five feet eight and one-half inches, weighs 168 lbs., and is twenty-eight years old.

FINE RALLY GIVES WIN TO GLOUCESTER

Hammond's Hitting Overcomes Surrey Lead in O.C. Cricket

Canadian Press

London, May 6.—Cricket followers in England had their first big thrill of the season yesterday when Gloucester snatched a last-minute victory from Surrey at the Kennington Oval, when a drawn game appeared inevitable. Yesterday morning Gloucestershire replied to Surrey's first innings total of 258 runs, with 175 for seven wickets, declared, to which Sinfield contributed 71, not out. Surrey fared badly in their second innings, putting on only sixty runs for six wickets. Parker was in deadly mood, having a bowling average of four Surrey wickets for twenty-five runs. Surrey, however, felt safe in declaring just after the tea interval when they were 43 runs ahead. Gloucester went all out to win, the winning hit coming when seven wickets had fallen. Wally Hammond, Gloucester's all-rounder, was the principal factor in their success. He slashed out with great daring, getting 58, not out.

M.C.C.-YORKSHIRE DRAW

The match at Lords between Yorkshire and the M.C.C. was drawn. Scores were: M.C.C., 112 and 65 for no wickets; Yorkshire, 227 for eight wickets, declared (Wood, 95, not out).

Derbyshire got a first innings win from Leicestershire at Derby, the scores being: Leicester, 216 and 207 for five wickets, declared; Derby, 224. No play was possible after Leicester's declaration yesterday.

The friendly match between Nottinghamshire and Sussex at Nottingham was left drawn when rain fell heavily, stopping play, just before the tea interval.

Notts made 276 and 353 for seven wickets, declared, and Sussex, 308 and 71 for seven wickets. Hardstaff hit up a spirited 114, not out, for Notts.

C.P.R. SOFTBALL LOOP PROPOSED

A meeting will be held to-morrow night by C.P.R. employees interested in forming a C.P.R. Softball League in the rooms of the Social and Athletic Club on Belleville Street. Many of those who bowled in the C.P.R. League last winter are expected to join the new league. When the officers are elected at the meeting four teams will be entered in the league it is expected. The teams will be Empress Hotel, E. & N. Shops, City Offices and B.C. Coast Service.

100 MILES M.P.H.

NERVE IS JUST PART OF IT

Not so long ago Sir Malcolm Campbell astonished the world with the rate of nearly 250 miles an hour over land. Campbell confessed he was a fatalist. Mr. Public drew the immediate conclusion that he was just another dare-devil racing fiend. But a recent event although somewhat smaller proved a very important point about this famous racer's life and makeup. The public found that he was not the devil-may-care sort of chap they had thought him to be. He was shown as a super-perfect driver who could handle cars in almost any emergency, and who knew by experience just what to do at the right time. In this particular incident, which took place in England, he was traveling at the rate of 100 miles per hour when his steering gear broke. To many drivers it would have meant death, but not so in this case. Sir Malcolm brought his car through a skid to a dead stop without injury to either himself or further injury to his machine.

RACING SEASON OPENS IN EAST NEXT WEDNESDAY

Horses to Start at Thorncliffe Park, Toronto; King's Plate Prospects

Canadian Press

Toronto, Ont., May 6.—One week from to-day the Canadian flat racing season will open at Thorncliffe Park, just outside this city. For the first time in many years the opening of the season will not coincide with the running of the historic King's Plate—Epsom Derby of Canada—for the King's Plate is traditionally associated with the opening day of old Woodbine Park here, and Woodbine this season follows on the heels of Thorncliffe. The plate will be run on May 23.

For many weeks now, racegoers have been closely watching the training preparations of the select thoroughbreds who will race in the King's Plate, over the mile-and-furlong distance. The added money this year is $10,000 and the King's guineas, compared with $15,000 last year.

The King's Plate was first run in 1860.

The favorite for the Plate, R. W. R. Cowie's Frothblower, three-year-old colt by Cudgel out of Chrystoberil, proved yesterday that he has come through the winter sound and fit. In his first formal speed trial, he turned in a sparkling mile in 1.42 flat, the best shown by any of the contenders so far. Frothblower carried ten punds more than he will have to shoulder on plate day.

Among the many aspirants, some of them are tried and proven in a juvenile career, like the Seagram stable's main hope, Freethinker; others have blossomed out as promising racers after being kept off the track, or at least raced only sparingly in their two-year-old season. And there is a contingent of three-year-olds in.

Thorncliffe stable's four candidates, Bronze, Oil Rite, Mana and Fess, all turned in good trials. Bronze, their main relince, worked with Oil Rite at a mile in 1.43 2-4.

Sixty-one horses were entered for the King's Plate, which is restricted to Ontario-bred three-year-olds and upwards. Those horses of more than three years are eligible only if they have not won since they were two-year-olds. But it is unlikely that more than a score, all told, will go to the post, and even this number would be an unusually large field.

BIG FOUR RINKS TO PLAY GAMES BEFORE MONDAY

The first round of the Big Four Rinks competition must be played on or before next Monday, it was announced by Andy Stewart, chairman of the games committee of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club. Men and women bowlers affiliated with any of the clubs in Greater Victoria will commence the Thursday evening light games on May 14, it was also stated. Competitions are now in full swing at the Burnside Club and the results of the ladder singles played during the past week follow: Mercer 21, Hawkins 13; Harman 21, Deveson 10; Hancock 10; Holmes 21; Childs 8; Holmes 21, Ramsay 17; Bryant 21, Pass 9; Gibson 21, Bryant 15; Tupman 21, Eastham 19; Vallance 21, Eastham 14; Stewart 21, Gibson 15; Vallance 21, Tupman 19.

Regulation games will commence next Saturday afternoon. The personnel of the teams which will carry the colors of the Burnside Club in the competition for the Cameron Nichol Cup, emblematic of the rink championship of Greater Victoria, will be announced on that day.

A young housewife stood and gazed for several minutes at the meat which the butcher had displayed on his stall, with a keen eye as to its merits.

"Is that English mutton?" she inquired.

Well, madame," said the butcher, "the sheep was born in New Zealand, but," suddenly brightening up, "its parents were English."

Mayor Officially Opens Victoria's Musical Festival

Emphasizes Great Asset of Festival to Cultural Life of City and Extends Cordial Welcome to Visiting Adjudicators; Harold Beckwith, President, Presents Poster Prizes; Sir Hugh Roberton Gives Valuable Criticism to Singers; Would Like to See More Co-operation; Standard Here is Low

With a short address emphasizing the great asset such an event was to the cultural life of Victoria, Mayor Herbert Anscomb officially opened the fifth annual Victoria musical festival yesterday evening in the First United Church, where all the night competitions are being held. A large and enthusiastic audience was on hand to hear the opening remarks and the subsequent adjudications. On the platform with the mayor was Harold Beckwith, president of the Festival Association. Mr. Beckwith led the assembly in the singing of "O Canada," with Edward Parsons at the organ, and then delivered a short talk in which he welcomed everybody to the festival and pointed out that those in charge viewed with great satisfaction the manner in which things were running.

The Victoria musical festival affiliation with the Western Federation of Music Festivals and the consequent securing of eminent British adjudicators and other judges from as far west as Winnipeg and as far south as Portland, were points touched upon by the mayor in his opening speech. After mentioning the opportunity thus afforded of obtaining expert advice and assistance, His Worship extended a cordial welcome to the visiting adjudicators and said that the British men particularly were being given the chance to make valuable contacts with the people of the empire.

The mayor stressed the force a musical festival exerted in welding music lovers together and asserted that it affected the most important aspect of life—the cultural side. He paid a compliment to the hard work and sacrifice of Mr. Beckwith and his assistants and wished the festival much success.

TIME CHANGED

Following the mayor's remarks, Mr. Beckwith again took the platform and made special mention of an important programme change, whereby the time for the holding of the event for public school composite choirs had been changed from Friday afternoon to 10 o'clock Friday morning. The association president then presented the prizes to the winners in the musical festival poster competition, pointing out that the awards of a collection of paints, pencils, brushes, erasers and other appropriate articles were intended to help the young artists in the carrying out of their artistic careers.

POSTER PRIZES GIVEN

In the high school group Doreen Kennelly, Victoria High, was first; Anna Clarke, Victoria High, second; Margaret Kerr, Oak Bay High, third. In the graded school group, Helen McKinnon, Tolmie School, was first; Mary Grant, Monterey Avenue, second; Mabel Mar, George Jay, third. Mr. Beckwith referred to the remarkable work done by these young drawers.

CHORAL ADJUDICATION

One of the features of yesterday's competitions in the fifth annual Victoria musical festival was the choral singing adjudicated in the main by Sir Hugh Roberton, with H. Plunkett Greene as assistant. Choral events judged included classes for male and mixed choirs, mixed madrigal groups and groups for certain public school grades. The winning madrigal group consisted of ten members of the Parfitt family and was called the Parfitt Family group. Sir Hugh Roberton commented privately on the lack of competition in several choral classes, there being in at least four events only one entry.

In his adjudicating Sir Hugh made many valuable remarks. During the afternoon judging he proclaimed that "there was not much wrong with tone in Victoria." He commented upon the "imposed" nature of the choral singing. Much of it lacked spontaneity, he said.

STANDARD LOW

"The standard of singing as I have heard it up to now is not high in Victoria; on the contrary it is very low," he said. Illustrating his remarks with a practical demonstration, Sir Hugh went on to point out that the first thing for the singer to do was to get the spirit of the song.

"Good teaching is evoking—drawing forth from the children. There must be loving co-operation between teacher and child. All art is love. One cannot be a great artist without being a great lover," remarked Sir Hugh.

The proper way to teach children a song, he continued was to let them sing first with "enthusiastic rough tone" and then "whittle it down." If the voice was not allowed to come out in full force, much was lost.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

"I am still looking for co-operation. There are at present too many expression marks and not enough expression. Conductors must train their singers to adjust their minds to the mood of the piece and to ask themselves what they are singing about."

If the singers would only sing on their lips, their words would be much more pointed and effective, he said. The Victoria High School choir under the direction of Fred Waddington, which for the fourth year in succession won the J. C. Pendray challenge shield for junior choirs of high schools, Sunday schools and private schools, was pointed out as one of the finest examples in the festival of real, animated rhythmical singing, resulting from exceeding vitality on the part of the conductor. The choir was very much alive, added Sir Hugh, and approaching what he was looking for—real co-operation.

"JOLLY FACES"

In the evening adjudications, Mr. Greene said it was nice to see in the winning girls' choir of the Victoria School of Expression, under Capt. Wilfrid Ord, "a row of jolly faces."

Sir Hugh Roberton, in commenting upon the very promising performance of the two madrigal groups, said that singers such as they were reviving an old custom of 300 years—to play, not at bridge, but at singing. Such singing taught the great lesson of subordinating oneself to the whole.

The groups tended to take their madrigals a little too seriously, observed Sir Hugh. They must learn to sing with a twinkle in their eyes, for the numbers were light and cheery. More lip movement was required and a little reduction of the fatty vowel sounds in order to better show the "bone" of the consonants.

VICTORIA MALE CHOIR

In his remarks upon the performance of the Victoria Male Choir, Sir Hugh noted that its singing possessed the best "character" of any he had heard during the day. It had good, rich, adequate tones, though showing the same weakness with the consonants.

"The want of consonants in actual life always denotes weakness of mind," said Sir Hugh. "The first thing a man does who, as we say in Scotland, has had 'a drap too much,' is to lose control of his consonants."

The Male Choir was well conducted and possessed plenty of rhythm, concluded Sir Hugh.

Results of yesterday afternoon and evening competitions were as follows:

Nora Garcin Was Winner in Girls' Elocution Class

Owing to a repetition of one number in the programme, yesterday morning's candidates in the intermediate elocution class for girls under sixteen were wrongly numbered and prize-winners were misnamed. The silver medalist was Nora Garcin, whose mark of 169 was one better than that of Cecily Gooey. Victoria Ebbs-Canavan, with 166, was third. Miss Garcin's performance was very favorably commented upon by Mrs. Jean Campbell, the adjudicator.

RAIL SERVICE REDUCTIONS MAY BE APPEALED

Ottawa, May 6.—The only redress under the law that people have in protestation against any curtailment of operation services by either of the two great railway systems is by way of appeal or complaint to the Board of Railway Commissioners.

When any curtailment was proposed by either the C.N.R. or the C.P.R. ten days' notice had to be given. During that time, people could protest before the reduction of service could be brought into operation, and if the Railway Commission considered it proper it could immediately institute an inquiry into the merits of the case and hold up the curtailment. Following the inquiry, the board could, if it so decided to be in the public interest, refuse to permit the reduction of operation services on either of the two systems.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, so informed the Commons yesterday afternoon in answer to a question by W. T. Lucas, U.F.A., Camrose.

MUST ENJOY PRACTICING, SAYS JUDGE

Harold Samuels, Piano Adjudicator, Says Inspiration Is Prespiration

Says Children Should Not Play From Memory; Forget Audience, He Advises

Much comment of inestimable value to young piano players was made by Harold Samuel, London, in the course of his adjudication of piano classes yesterday morning, afternoon and evening. Events judged included class 57 for primary girls' pianoforte solo, class 56 for elementary boys, pianoforte solo (both preliminary and final), class 53 for preparatory girls' pianoforte solo (both preliminary and final), and class 62 for senior pianoforte solo.

In his afternoon adjudication of class 53, Mr. Samuel stressed a point which he said he felt most keenly about. Why did children play without music? The only result of playing without music, he asserted, was to damage the performance. It did not add one mark to the competitor's total, though it added the handicap of having to play from memory.

FINGERS AHEAD OF BRAIN

The young players were in far too much of a hurry, he continued. The fingers tended to get ahead of the brain and were consequently left without their general. Be sure to practice pieces at the pace they were intended to be played, he warned.

Another noticeable fault, Mr. Samuel added, was the tendency to think in bars, that is, to stop playing at the end of the bar. One must think in phrases, he said, and must feel that a certain part of the music was really right and not right merely because teacher said so.

In conclusion, the adjudicator admitted that most of the competitors were "bright young people," and congratulated Wilma Ambrose on her courage in returning to the platform to finish her piece after she had had a lapse of memory.

In his evening adjudication of class 56 for elementary boys, Mr. Samuel admitted he hated to begin on a minor note, but it was his opinion that there was a lack of sufficient practice in most of the people he had heard.

PRACTICE MORE

"I don't believe the majority of you people enjoy practicing. But you must. You must make up your mind to get over some difficulty every day, for what are thoughts if you have no words to express them. Inspiration is perspiration," he said.

The competitors in class 62 for senior pianoforte solo were summed up by Mr. Samuel as good, "and when I say good I mean good." The adjudicator played through an entire piece to satisfy his audience.

In his final adjudication of the girls' preparatory class, Mr. Samuel observed that the competitors were too aware of their audience. "Treat the audience as if they were a row of cabbage," he urged. "Think about your music. If not, a barrier of reserve will spring up in your playing."

Copper Shows Dangers Of Price-fixing

Probably one of the best evidences available of the danger of price-fixing is to be found in the copper trade. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to prove that the producers acted in concert to keep prices pegged above a natural level, but every indication points in that direction.

It is fairly well known that production costs of various copper companies vary quite widely. Some may be able to make good profits at, say 12 cents a pound, while others would have to get 15 cents a pounds to make it pay. If, as was the case in 1929, the price were 18 cents a pound and all producers were able to make good profits, the tendency naturally would be to work all mines to capacity. And if the demand were not sufficient to take all the copper produced, and inventories were piling up, it should be evident that the industry was headed for trouble. Those responsible for the high prices evidently figured they were doing a fine thing for the industry, but subsequent events indicate quite the opposite. The accumulation caused prices to slump much further than ordinarily would have been the case.

Funded debt held by the public, $1-168,565,864.

C.N.R. HOTELS

In answer to questions on the C.N.R. hotels asked by Dr. McGibbon it was stated that a sum of approximately $21,537,475 was invested in the nine hotels run by the Canadian National Railways in different parts of Canada. Of the nine hotels, four turned in operating profits in the year ended December 31, 1930, while five produced losses. When interest on investment was taken into the calculation, all the hotels in the chain showed losses.

The nine hotels are the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa; Pictou Lodge, Pictou, N.S.; Fort Garry, Winnipeg; Macdonald, Edmonton; Prince Edward, Brandon; Prince Arthur, Port Arthur; Jasper Park Lodge, Jasper, Alta.; Nova Scotian, Halifax, and Minaki Lodge, Minaki, Ont.

CHATEAU LAURIER

The most costly hotel in the chain from the point of view of capital investment is the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa. Invested in that beautiful building is the sum of $3,535,863. The interest on that investment amounts to $419,274, which resulted in teh Chateau turning in a deficit of $363,-065 at the end of 1930, even though it made an actual operating profit of $55,608 in that year.

PROFESSOR URGES PERPETUATION OF B.C. NATIVE PLANTS

Prof. John Davidson, who last year represented B.C. at the International Botanical Congress at Cambridge and lecture there on B.C. plant life, gave his illustrated lecture on "Rock Gardens and British Columbia Alpine Flowers" before the members of the Victoria Horticultural Society in the council chamber of the City Hall last evening.

During the lecture he told of the profusion of growth of native and foreign flowering plants in the beauty places of England and Scotland, particularly Cambridge, Edinburgh and Aberdeen.

Prof. Davidson urged people of B.C. to give attention to native plants and flowers, and stimulate a public interest in their perpetuation.

Dr. A. G. Price, president of the society, presided.

Because the society was unable to obtain its annual grant from the city, it has been necessary for the officers to reduce the prizes this year, it was explained during the discussion of routine business. Members were advised of the annual summer show on July 31 and August 1, and the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association was congratulated on the success of its show.

Upward Move Started, Says Labor Secretary

New York, May 6.—Bottom of the industrial depression has been reached and an upward move has begun, William N. Doak, secretary of labor, declared at a luncheon here.

Secretary Doak's remarks are quoted by the New York Times to-day in part as follows:

"March over January showed 2½ per cent increase in the number of employees and 10 per cent increase in payrolls. These are trustworthy, stable, comparable data, devoid of any speculative possibilities."

AUTO OUTPUT IN APRIL SHOWS 20 P.C. GAIN

Washington, May 6.—April auto production by members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, reporting all important makers except Ford, is estimated at 231,017 units, up 20 per cent over March, but a decrease of 12 per cent from April 1930.

During the first four months of 1931, production by chamber members was 701,171 cars and trucks, against 906,580 in the like period of last year.

DOCTORS AVERAGE NET INCOME OF $5,059 A YEAR

Surgeon Earns $9,233, However, and General Practitioner $4,188

Young Men Remain in Cities; Rural Incomes at Lower Level

The annual net income of the average physician is $5,059, compared with $9,233 for surgeons, the highest earning group, and $4,188 for general practitioners, the lowest earning group, according to the results of a study made public yesterday by Medical Economics, a monthly publication, with offices at Rutherford, N.J. The magazine studied the practices of 4,084 doctors, representing all types of communities throughout the country.

The net incomes arrived at by the study were computed by deducting such professional expenses as rent, heat, light, telephone, office salaries, medicinal and pharmaceutical supplies, surgical instruments and supplies, automobiles and miscellaneous expenses and depreciation. The average surgeon's gross income was found to be $15,472, with total expenses of $6,239. That of the average general practitioner was $7,427, with expenses of $3,239, and of the average physician $8,284, with expenses of $3,225.

RURAL DOCTORS EARN LESS

A great difference is shown between the earning power of doctors in rural communities and those in large population centres, the former showing an average net income of $3,293 and the latter $9,914. The highest expense of practice was found among doctors limiting themselves to radium and X-ray treatments. The average gross income of these is $13,417, but only $6,326 remains after professional costs are deducted.

A wide range is shown in the apportionment of specialists' expenses, the physical therapist spending, for instance, an average of $1,115 yearly on mechanical and electrical devices, and the neuro-psychiatrist spending only $82 a year on instruments of all kinds. The best-paying specialists, in the order named, are declared to be surgery, opthalmology, gynecology, eye, ear, nose and throat, orthopedics, pediatrics, gastro-enterology, radiology and urology. Anesthetists and physical therapists are the lowest paid, although the general practitioners receive even less money.

A doctor is at the peak of his earning power from his eleventh to twentieth years of practice, the survey shows, the income from the latter point on declining until those doctors who have been in practice longer than forty years earn less than youths who have practiced less than five. Proof that younger doctors are leaving rural districts for cities is shown by the fact that one-third of all doctors in practice longer than forty years are in rural sections, while only 13 per cent of the youngest group is so located. The percentage of young men in metropolitan districts is 22 per cent, against 5 per cent of the oldest class.

SPECIALISTS NUMEROUS IN CITIES

"Those medicos who practice largely among a wealthy class," continues the survey, "report an average gross income of $17,145, as against $7,902 gross income reported by doctors having a moderate-means clientele. More than 50 per cent of all the doctors questioned reported that their practice was largely among people in the moderate-means class.

"The general practitioners greatly outnumber the specialists in smaller communities, but in cities of 100,000 and more population the proportion of specialists and general practitioners is almost equal. That younger doctors are showing an inclination to specialize is shown by the fact that among the oldest class of doctors there are twelve general practitioners to each specialist, while among the youngest class there are only three general practitioners to each specialist."

The survey declares that, although it found the average net income was $5,059 for all physicians, a separate estimate, obtained by dividing the amount which the nation spends annually for doctors' bills, by the number of doctors, places the average yearly income at $5,461.

Physicians included in the survey who had been in practice less than five years comprised 18.9 per cent of the total, those from six to ten years in practice 16.3 from eleven to twenty years 23.6, from twenty-one to thirty years 27.6, from thirty-ine to forty years eleven, and from forty-one to fifty years 2.5 per cent. Their clientele was found to be 17.9 per cent rural, 13.6 per cent industrial, 15.7 per cent metropolitan, 50.7 per cent of moderate means and 2.1 per cent wealthy.

TWENTY-SEVEN PER CENT IN LARGER CITIES

Eight per cent practice in communities of less than 1,000 persons, 17 per cent in communities from 1,000 to 5,000 in population, 9 per cent in communities from 5,00 to 10,000, 9 per cent in communities from 10,000 to 25,000, 7 per cent in communities from 25,000 to 50,000, 7 per cent in communities from 50,000 to 100,000, 16 per cent in communities from 100,000 to 500,000 and 27 per cent in communities with 500,000 or more population.

A table showing the average income and expenses of specialists and general practitioners follows:

Kootenay Cherries Damaged By Frost

Kootenay fruit crop conditions show damage to cherries by frost, Department of Agriculture announced today. It is anticipated, in all sections, that the production of pears will show an increase over last year, while other fruits will have about the same yield as last year. Winter varieties of apples are making a good showing in the Creston district. The usual acreage of early potatoes has been planted and the acreage of vegetables in the Kootenay district will be about the same as 1930.

Charles McKenzie Committed For Trial

Charles McKenzie, who was arrested following the detective work of two young women last Tuesday night, was committed for trial by Magistrate George Jay yesterday in City Police Court on a charge of stealing an automobile.

The automobile, driven by Miss Margaret Sundin, was taken from the curb outside Woolworth's store on Douglas Street just after Miss Sundin and her companion, Miss Margaret Watson, had left it, they alleged.

Gilbert Zarelli, who was with McKenzie when the latter was arrested, told of being with McKenzie earlier in the evening. He had left McKenzie at the intersection of View and Douglas Streets, he said, and met him later at the Island Taxi Stand. He did not say anything about the car theft.

The magistrate ordered the committal with little comment.

R. C. Lowe is defending.

Everyone Past 40 Should Make This Test

For Amazing and Lasting Relief from Middle-Age Ailments That Cause Daily Annoyance and Sap Vital Force

No longer need folks near or past the prime of life put up with those painful and often embarrassing conditions brought on by overworked, sluggish Kidneys, or Bladder Weakness with their distressing symptoms of Lameness, Pains in back and down through groins, scanty but frequent and burning urination, "Getting-up-Nights," and Nervous Irritability—because a ten days' test of Dr. Southworth's URATABS will convince the most skeptical of the value of this special treatment for their particular case.

Amazing testimony of Physicians and users gives convincing proof of the power of URATABS to restore Health and Strength to a weakened, inflamed or irritated Bladder and Urinary Tract. A multitude of alarming symptoms seem to quickly disappear—and you see and feel a truly genuine improvement often within two or three days. "No more Backaches, no more pain, no more embarrassment or Getting-up-nights. I now sleep soundly, and get up in the morning full of 'pep,' thanks to URATABS!"

While new to the general public, the wondrous value of URATABS has been thoroughly proven by years of successful use in the private practice of Dr. H. C. Southworth. And now any good druggist will supply them on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Try URATABS to-day. (Advt.)

Train Dispatchers Suffer From Unusual Eye Disease

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The railway train dispatcher is responsible for recording on a train sheet the location of trains, the orders for their movements and other facts having to do with the work of the road.

As is pointed out by Dr. Carey P. McCord, who recently investigated a peculiar disturbance of the eyes occurring particularly among such workers, the dispatcher may have as many as 200 telephone calls in an hour regarding which he must make decisions, and he must enter on the train sheet, which is constantly being moved back and forth and up and down, decisions thus made.

Obviously this continuous motion of the eyes, the head and the sheet, may produce undue strain on the mechanism of the eye, producing not only the abnormal eye movements known as nystagmus but also a twitching of the eyelids due to fatgue and defects of vision.

Dr. McCord examined 121 train dispatchers in widely separated sections of the country and from seventeen different railroads. He found some nystagmus in eight-one or 67 per cent.

There is a form of nystagmus which is related to disturbances of the internal ear, but that which appears in train dispatchers is not of this character. It is important to realize that the visual disturbance is wholly associated with the occupation.

The train dispatcher ordinarily begins this work between the ages of thirty and thirty-five, although at present there is a tendency for younger men to go into the work. The condition tends to progress to some extent the longer the man remains at the occupation, but does not tend to go to the point of total disability, as in the case of nystagmus among miners.

Another interesting observation made on the train dispatchers was the fact that many of them have some degree of hardness of hearing. This is related to the fact that the train dispatchers wear close-fitting hearing apparatus over the left ear through which there is a continuous inpouring of sound waves, and also due to the fact that the work is carried on amidst noise and din, producing extra dependence on bone conduction of sound rather than air conduction.

Story of a Great Bridge

When we look at a great bridge, we admire the work of those who have joined to make it; but we seldom realize the toll in human lives which the building sometimes takes.

UNCLE RAY

Besides the St. Lawrence River is the quaint city of Quebec. It is the home of people of French descent, and many old French customs have been kept through the hundreds of years.

Near the beginning of the present century, the people of the region decided to build a bridge across the St. Lawrence River. Work was begun in 1903, and the finishing of the structure fourteen years later calls for a tribute to human courage.

At this point the river is wide. The engineers agreed to set up the same kind of bridge as had been made for the Firth of Forth in Scotland. The Firth of Forth bridge was then the longest of its type, having a channel span of 1,710 feet.

Work went on for four years, when suddenly the southern half of the Quebec structure crumpled under its own weight, and seventy men fell to their death. Experts went to the scene to see what had caused the tragedy, and they declared it had been due to faulty materials.

Construction was started again and all went well until September 11, 1916. On that date, while the ceptral span was being hoisted into place, there was a break, and down it crashed with the loss of eighty-two lives.

After such heart-breaking events, we might suppose the task would be given up; but instead it was pursued with renewed vigor. A year later—on September 20, 1917—the last bolt was fastened, and the work was complete. The signal of victory was sent forth at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and the workmen set up loud shouts and cheers. In the city of Quebec, thousands of whistles, bells and auto sirens were sounded.

Thus was the struggle won. Thus was Quebec given a firm pathway across the St. Lawrence. The date marked the completion of a bridge three-fifths of a mile long, with a central span of 1,800 feet—longer by ninety feet than the central span of the structure across the Firth of Forth.

Resume Roadwork On West Side Of Shawnigan Lake

Shawnigan Lake, May 6.—Work has been resumed on the new road on the west side of the lake. A little over a mile remains to be built, when connection will be made with the existing road on the West Arm. When finished this road will be a great attraction for tourists, furnishing a twenty-mile drive around Shawnigan Lake.

Landlady: "There ain't goin' to be any such emergency! My terms for actors is weekly in advance!"

AUBURN INCREASE

Auburn, Ind., May 6.—Showing a record-breaking increase each month over last year, Auburn Automobile Company shipped 6,003 Auburn and Cord cars in April, a new high figure in the company's history.

This brings the total number of units shipped by Auburn since January 1, to 17,723, which is 4,030 more cars than the company built and delivered during the entire year of 1930. January shipments were 2,017, February 4,054, and March 5,649. April shipments of 6,003 cars is an increase of 190.5 per cent over the 2,069 cars shipped in April, 1930.

More than 200 dealers have been added during April, bringing the total of new dealers to nearly 600 since the New York Automobile Show in January. May production is set in excess of 6,000 units, Mr. Faulkner said.

PREMIER ORGANIZES BANKERS TO PUT OVER BIG FINANCING

Ottawa, May 6.—Dominion of Canada conversion loan, announced last week by Premier Bennett, as Minister of Finance, is planned to take care of a total of more than $1,000,000,000, and while he has intimated that the amount of new bonds to be offered will be limited. The success of the programme is considered so important from the national standpoint that a strong organization is being formed to insure that the terms and advantages of the government's offer may be brought to the attention of holders of issues.

These advantages, it is understood, will include the opportunity to secure a long-term issue on terms which the public can not but consider as attractive, having regard to the fact that they are being offered the premier security in Canada.

No new money is being sought, the operation being entirely a refunding one. Conversion loans similar to this have been popular in other countries which have had to take care of wartime obligations. The success of the operation will not only greatly diminish the financial problem with which the government is confronted, but it will offer the holders an opportunity to extend their investment on a definitly attractive basis.

COMMITTEE OF BANKERS

Premier Bennett heads the central committee as honorary chairman, while the chairman who has actual direction is Sir Charles Gordon, presidents of the Bank of Montreal. Other members are Victor M. Dury, vice-chairman; S. H. Logan, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; M. W. Wilson, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada; J. A. McLeod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia; Beadury Leman, general manager of Banque Canadienne Nationale; H. R. Tudhope, of A. E. Ames and Company Limited; J. H. Gundy, of Wood, Gundy and Company Limited; A. F. White, of the Dominion Securities Corporation Limited; Lieut.-Col. F. G. Hanson, of Hanson Bros. Inc., and A. J. L. Haskell, Bank of Monteral, secertary.

Chairman of the publicity committee is Russel D. Bell, of Greenshilds and Company.

Mute Conversation Held By Television

Using a communication service developed by Bell System scientists and engineers, Dr. Thomas F. Fox, who has been totally deaf since his tenth year, recently took part in what is believed to be the first "telephone conversation" carried on by means of the finger alphabet. The person at the other end of the two-way television circuit was his son, Edwin R. B. Fox.

The television circuit operates between the headquarters buildings in New York of two Bell System companies—the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its development and research organization, the Bell Telephone laboratories. The circuit is used for experimental and demonstration purposes, the distance between the buildings being about two miles.

Dr. Fox, at the Bell laboratories end of the circuit, saw before him on the iconophone screen the moving image of his son. He addressed him with his fingers. The image responded to the greetings, and the conversation proceeded. Although the son's hearing is not impaired, he is expert with the finger alphabet.

LILA LEE STARRING IN PICTURE NOW AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

One of the most pleasantly superstitious screen stars is Lila Lee, to be seen at the Columbia Theatre to-day in First National's "Misbehaving Ladies." The beautiful star believes that bad luck is the sure harbinger of good luck—which gives fate a run for his money.

Mrs Simmons was rather taken back by learning that her new domestic's name was the same as her own daughter's.

"Your name, Katherine, and my daughter's being the same, makes matters somewhat confusing," said Mrs. Simmons. "Suppose we change it?"

"Oi don't moind, mum," replied the girl.

"That's very nice," said the mistress. "How do you like, say, the name of Bridget?"

"Well, mum," returned the domestic, "it's not meself that's over particular. Oi'm willing to call th' young lady ony name yo'd suggest, mum!"

AN EMBARRASSINGLY CLEAR SKIN AT 72

Fortunes in skin foods? Yes—yet nature's way of feeding the skin is via the blood, the only source of absorption into any body cell, then only if the substance has been digested. If the blood be kept normally alkaline (non-acid) by eating alkaline foods, a clear skin is assured, pink and pimpleless as a babe's. At seventy-two, my skin is clear enough to cause embarrassing comment, yet until I was past fifty I had an unusually bad skin—pimply and putty colored. Alkaline Roman Meal, by alkalinizing my blood and keeping my bowels emptied after each meal, has worked this magic. Regardless of sex, a colorful, clear skin is a social and economic asset—also an evidence of splendid health. Eat alkaline Roman Meal freely summer and winter, add fruits and salads plentifully, and you can luxuriate in a skin to be proud of. AT THE THEATRES

"BACHELOR FATHER" WITH MARION DAVIS HERE AT DOMINION

Marion Davis never had a better starring role than that of Tony in "Bachelor Father." The amusing comedy drama which is being presented at the Dominion Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The picture teems with comedy situations which will keep any audience laughing during the entire length of the picture. The story concerns Sir Basil Winterton, a lonely bachelor, who is persuaded to gather three children from various corners of the earth and bring them to live with him. C. Aubery Smith plays the role of the bachelor father, the title role he created in the original Belasco production. His is a clever performance, suave and authoritative, dominating the entire picture and running a close second to Marion Davis in acting honors. Remaining members of the cast are exceptionally good. "Bachelor Fathers" is Marion Davis's best talking picture to date and one of the best light comedies of the year.

ALICE WHITE STARS AT THE COLISEUM IN "SHOW GIRL" SEQUEL

Alice White has the distinction seldom achieved by film stars of playing a sequel to a former role in "Show Girl in Hollywood," the First National screen comedy of life in Hollywood, now at the Coliseum Theatre. She appears as Dixie Dugan, the Broadway chorus girl, the same role she played in "Show Girl," another success made a short time ago.

As Dixie, the jazzy but shrewd little girl of the theatre, Miss White is a "natural."

STIRRING DRAMA OF CRIMINAL LIFE TO SHOW AT COLISEUM

Although he has produced many other people's voices for talking pictures, it was not until Alfred Hitchcock brought his persuasive powers to bear that R. E. Jeffrey, the voice-recording expert, was persuaded to make his debut before the camera. He appears as the foreman of the jury in Alfred Hitchcock's "Murder!" coming to the Coliseum next week.

As he has been a voice expert for years, Mr. Jeffrey was somewhat surprised when, after the scene had been run through the projector, one of the electricians in the studio approached him and said, "I believe Mr. Hitchcock is very pleased with your 'bit' in the picture. Your voice has come over quite well. That's good, isn't it?"

Mr. Jeffrey, for the first time in his life, was speechless!

MUSIC IS FEATURE OF "LADY'S MORALS" ON CAPITOL SCREEN

An engrossing story, lavish staging, and some of the finest music that picture-goers have ever been offered on the talking screen are all to be found in the first film appearance of Grace Moore, Metropolitan opera star, recently lured to the studios. In Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new picture, "A Lady's Morals," based on the life of Jenny Lind, and now playing at the Capitol Theatre for the last time today, Miss Moore literally brings to life the "Swedish Nightingale." The days when she was the world's idol, her debut in New York, chaperoned by the sagacious P. T. Barnum, and a delicate love romance between the singer and the composer, Brandt, are woven into a new form of screen drama with music.

LEWIS STONE PLAYS SOLDIER ROLE HERE IN PLAYHOUSE FILM

His military record won Lewis Stone an outstanding role. Because he is a former army major, he was cast for the role of the warden in "The Big House," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational drama of penitentiary life and prison riots now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, with Wallace Beery, Chester Morris, Robert Montgomery and a notable cast.

KLONDYKE VETERAN NEW COURT USHER

William Jones, veteran of the Klondyke gold rush and of the Great War, is the new Supreme Court Usher, succeeding Thomas Gallon who died last month. Announcement of the appointment was made to-day.

Mr. Jones started on the staff of the Victoria Court House twenty-one years ago and has been there since, except during the war when he went overseas with the 14th Brigade Artillery under Col. Ogilvie.

He had over ten years experience in the Yukon, staying there from the time he went in during the Klondyke gold rush until he came south to Victoria in 1910. His home was in England and he came out to Victoria in the latter part of the last century on a sailing ship around the Horn from Liverpool. He has a wife and two sons here.

Festival Standard Is Higher To-day

More Life Shown In Vocal Classes This Morning, Says Judge

H. Plunkett Greene Awards Prizes for Six Singing Events; Noel Johnson Wins Challenge Cup and Silver Medal for Vocal Solo; Vera and David Parfitt Highly Complimented for Work in Under Thirteen Duet Class; Two Elocution Classes Adjudicated

A higher standard of performance in the vocal classes was noted this morning over that of yesterday by H. Plunkett Greene, who continued his adjudication at the First United Church in the fifth annual Musical Festival.

"Yesterday was frankly a disappointment as far as singers was concerned," said Mr. Greene. "To-day we see signs of real life and I am glad to say that the standard is higher. You must remember that singing is nothing if not emotional. You must also remember that the mechanical source of singing is deep down in the stomach, in spite of the popular fallacy that notes originate in the mouth."

Mr. Greene then proceeded to adjudicate Class 45 for vocal solo, girls over thirteen and under sixteen. The silver medal went to Noel Johnson, whose mark of eighty-two was one better than that of Nellie Worth, in second place, and two better than those of Catherine Craig and Ellen Bowles.

INGLIS WINNER

Billy Inglis, whose previous performances have won him considerable recognition, received the James Petrie silver medal in the vocal solo class, boys over thirteen and under sixteen. His mark was eighty-two. James McVie was second with eighty. The test piece was Vaughan Williams's beautiful "Linden Lea." In his remarks on this event, the adjudicator laid stress on the importance of imagination in singing.

"Imagination makes the world go round," said Mr. Greene.

Class 47 for soprano solo, over sixteen and under nineteen, was won by Agnes Anderson with a mark of 81. Maud Trevor and Doris Rawlins came second with 80. Mr. Greene was not particularly impressed with the singing in this event.

In the contralto class for girls of the same age, there were only three entries and the competitor whom the adjudicator said would have won the prize, broke down in the middle of her piece. Mr. Greene withheld the award.

WINS CHALLENGE CUP

The Victoria School of Expression Challenge Cup for the competitor securing the highest marks in classes 45, 47 and 48, was won by Noel Johnson with a mark of 82, secured in the event for girls over thirteen and under sixteen, Miss Johnson won the cup last year.

In his comment upon the contralto solo class, Mr. Greene noted that the real contralto, like the real bass, was disappearing from the face of the earth. "The mezzo soprano is undoubtedly the voice, for it can sing down to contralto and up to soprano," he added. A noticeable feature of Mr. Greene's comment was his advice to several competitors "to leave their voices alone for a year or so."

Praise was given Vera and David Parfitt in the duet for girls, boys or girl and boy under thirteen. "The two have good imagination, sing very well and are altogether a capital pair," said the adjudicator. Their mark was 85, which was five ahead of the two teams of Anne Clemency Ord and Leslie Clarke, and Violet and Geraldine Mellor.

Evelyn England and Noel Johnson secured the silver medals in the duet class for girls, boys or boy and girl over thirteen and under sixteen. Their mark of 82 was one better than that of Dorothy Plumb and Alice M. Sellern.

An important announcement was made by Mr. Greene from the platform this morning, before the start of the vocal adjudication. The adjudicators of singing, he said, had not been aware yesterday that a certificate was given to all competitors whose mark was eighty or over. Having learnt this fact to-day, they had decided to raise the standard of marking. Mr. Greene stressed the fact that the resulting lower marks would not denote a lower standard of performance. He told the audience that this change had been made because the adjudicators believed that a certificate was a real award and should not be given generally.

ELOCUTION

Mrs. Jean Campbell, Winnipeg, conducted two elocution events in the Progressive Thought Temple, and Harold Samuel a preliminary pianoforte solo class for elementary girls in the First Baptist Church. Results of the piano event will be announced after the final to-night in the First United Church.

In Class 131 elocution for girls under nineteen Catherine Craig won with the splendid mark of 182, which was nineteen points ahead of her nearest competitor, Eileen Sheila Davis.

The silver medalist in Class 137, for girls under thirteen, was Ruth Horton, whose mark of 170 was two better than that of Virginia Simpson. There were twenty entries in this event, four of which were from outside points

The New Westminster arboretum is the largest of its kind in Canada. Over 60,000 trees were set out last year and a much larger programme of plantings is proposed for the current year. The filing of the application was announced yesterday by Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Lands, who pointed out that the Dominion operates a seed extraction plant at New Westminster, from which large quantities of fir seed have been shipped to other parts of the Empire.

The May meeting of the Victoria branch of the Overseas League was held at Spencer's tea rooms Monday afternoon. Mrs. A. E. Hodgins, the secretary, read correspondence from the league executive in London, and announced that Mrs. H. Juston Fisher, Mrs. E. P. Laycock and Mrs. D. Doig would attend the league's twenty-first anniversary functions on July next as representatives of the Victoria branch. J. N. Hatch gave a lecture on "Shakespeare and His Times," in the course of which he very interestingly outlined the conditions of English life at the time of Shakspeare and the circumstances attending the writing of his plays. It was arranged that the next meeting of the branch members, which would be the last of the current season, be held at Spencer's tea rooms on Monday, June 1.

ELDERLY MAN IS FOUND DEAD

Henry A. Owen, seventy-five, was found dead in his cabin at 706 Blanshard Street yesterday afternoon. It is presumed death was due to natural causes.

Apparently he died some time in the afternoon as he was seen alive at that time by A. Copeman, Humboldt Apartments. The remains were taken to McCall Brothers' Funeral Home.

It is believed the late Mr. Owen had no relatives here.

TWO-YEAR TERM IN JAIL ORDERED

Vancouver, May 6.—Convicted in County Court yesterday afternoon of obtaining money by false pretences, Graham L. Kennedy, thirty-eight, was sentenced by Judge Cayley to two years' imprisonment in the New Westminster penitentiary.

Evidence was that as "Attorney Dixon," the accused, representing himself to be a lawyer, was paid $62 by Mrs. Agnes Brewer, to obtain for her a divorce at a private hearing. She was told by John Greenwood, a confederate of Kennedy and serving a term in Oakalla jail for his part in the swindle, that the accused was a clever lawyer. Mrs. Brewer paid the two men $260 in all and subsequently learned no divorce proceedings had been commenced on her behalf. She did not recover her money.

Form Moulding Graceful Art Of Modern Stylist

Women of To-day Are Becoming "Foundation Conscious," Says Madame Dahl, New York Fashion Designer; Studios of Great Centres Cater to Willowy Lines or Rhythmical Curves; "Old Ironsides" Take the Count.

The modern woman intuitively knows that a good figure is as essential to her contentment in life as the ubiquitous schoolgirl complexion or the ultra-fashionable coiffure.

In these days of form-enveloping fashions, when the slim and rhythmically contoured girl holds the floor to the envy of less favorably proportioned rivals, there is a pronounced leaning towards aesthetics.

The woman of to-day does not have to be willowy in order to display her frocks to the best advantage, providing she has poise.

The creative designers are at least most persuasive in their efforts to prove that plumpness can be kept discreetly within bounds to meet the most exacting demands of fashion.

And so it is that women are thinking more about their figures than ever, and this applies to the "sub-deb," as well as to the woman of more mature years.

"FOUNDATION CONSCIOUS"

The women of to-day are becoming "foundation conscious." At least that is the view expressed by Madame I. M. Dahl, foundation stylist of New York, who is at the Empress Hotel to-day.

"The stylishly dressed woman that you see carrying herself so confidently on the street is the woman that is fondation conscious," observed Madame Dahl in the course of an interview in the hotel conservatory.

"Show me the belle of the ball and there you have the foundation stylist. This is also true of the girl who is inclined towards athletics.

BONE OUT TO STAY

"Those monstrosities, the 'Old Ironsides,' have gone into the discard to stay. Fashion's trend conceived the foundation garment which is now designed to suit every possible occasion. The popular ensemble is made or marred by the foundation, which has come to replace all other things in milady's wardrobe. Freedom and ease of movement is assured for the girl who plays the strenuous game of tennis, who rides horseback or who steers her automobile."

CUT TO WAISTLINE

"But, if there is any distinction to be made, the real art of the designer is seen in the foundation of the evening frock or ball gown, often cut away to the waist. The most divine frock is as nothing without the proper foundation," said Madame shrugging her shoulders and gesticulating with outstretched palms to give full emphasis to her point.

Madame Dahl represents the New York foundation studios of F. P. Hoy Inc., foundation creators of continental distinction. She makes four trips to the coast each year, and this is her fourth year on the road of style.

While in Los Angeles Madame Dahl unexpectedly met Miss Mary G. Jones, who is with the firm of Weingarten Bros., prominent New York foundation creators in the feminine field. They have since traveled up the coast together and are enjoying a pleasant visit to Victoria.

IMPELLED BY TOFFEE

"Would you like to know the real reason why Madame Dahl is in Victoria?" confided Miss Jones.

The interviewer displayed interest.

"It is because she is dying to get another supply of Riley's toffee. You know the delicious stuff that just melts in your mouth. We can't get it on the other side."

"If you want to know, I can go farther than that," interjected Madame. "I am going to take back to New York a creditable sample of your Canadian hams and bacon." They laughed at the joke. It was on them. Both admit to be in the 200-pound class and contend they are excellent foundation subjects.

GOOD TRAVEL SEASON IS DUE SAYS FOSTER

C.P.R. Passenger Traffic Manager Reached City To-day on Inspection Tour

General Manager of Hotels Arranging For Opening of Holiday Resorts

C. B. FOSTER
passenger traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal.

Led by C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway of Montreal, a large party of company officials arrived in the city by the night boat from Vancouver.

The party included H. F. Matthews, general manager of C.P.R. western hotels with headquarters at Winnipeg; N. R. DesBrisay, assistant passenger traffic manager, Winnipeg, and E. F. L. Sturdee, general passenger agent of Vancouver.

Mrs. Foster and Miss Foster came west from Montreal with the head of the company's passenger department.

BETTER THAN LAST YEAR

Mr. Foster has been studying the travel situation on his present transcontinental tour. He is of the opinion that the coming season will show a considerable improvement over last year in the matter of travel, basing his views on the advance reports of general agents of the company all over the North American continent.

"Our general agents throughout the United States report that a greater number of inquiries are being received and this advance data gives promise of a considerable volume of tourist traffic this season," said Mr. Foster.

The months of June and July appear particularly promising from a tourist standpoint, he said. Victoria will benefit by a number of important conventions, the chief of which will be that of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, opening here on June 1.

While here, Mr. Foster will talk over the coast travel angle with Capt. C. D. Neroutsos, manager of the British Columbia Coast Service.

CRUISE BUSINESS GOOD

The special cruises out of Victoria and Vancouver to Alaska are attracting a great deal of attention and many eastern tour parties have already been booked for the northern route this summer, Mr. Foster said.

Mr. Matthews joined Mr. Foster's party at Regina and they went on to Calgary and Banff, where arrangements are being made for the opening of the Banff Spring Hotel, May 15. They motored to Lake Louise, where the chalet is being made ready for the season's opening on June 1. On the return east, Mr. Matthews will stop off at Banff for the opening of the hotel resort overlooking the Bow Valley.

NEW MANAGER AT BANFF

A. E. Robertson, formerly assistant to the general manager at Winnipeg, will this season be manager of the Banff Springs Hotel, succeeding A. H. Devenish, who has been appointed assistant general manager of western hotels. J. J. Meredith will continue to act as manager of the Chalet Lake Louise.

Mr. Foster met L. D. Chetham, local passenger agent, this morning, and transacted business matters in his suite at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Matthews conferred with Herbert J. Wilson, manager of the Empress Hotel, and J. K. Hodges, assistant manager.

They expect to remain in the city until Friday and will probably play golf on one of the local courses. On leaving here Mr. Foster and his wife and daughter will return to Montreal.

COL. J. C. BROWN TO MEET SHIP

New Pacific Coast Manager of C.N.R. Steamships Makes First Official Visit Here

Making his first visit to Victoria since his appointment to the office at Vancouver a short time ago, Col. J. Carleton Brown, Pacific Coast manager of Canadian National Steamships, is expected in Victoria to-morrow to meet the new steamer Prince Robert, which is posted to reach port at 9 o'clock on Friday morning from Halifax via the Panama Canal and San Francisco.

For a number of years, Col. Carleton Brown, who succeeds B. C. Keeley on this coast, has been assistant to Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways.

Acting for Mayor Anscomb, who had a prior engagement, Alderman James Adam will present Capt. H. E. Nedden, commander of the Prince Robert, with a Canadian ensign on behalf of the City of Victoria.

Pianoforte Classes at the Music Festival Use the STEINWAY

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH is the centre of interest this week, where competitors in the Musical Festival pianoforte classes play each morning and afternoon.

Naturally, for such an important event a superlatively fine piano is essential, and for that reason the Musical Festival committee has selected the Steinway. Steinway has so often occupied the position of honor on the concert platform that to find any other instrument would be almost unthinkable!

EXPECT FROLIC TO HELP CITY PLAYGROUNDS

Brisk Demand For Tickets For Community Party at Crystal Garden

The latest move on the part of the Victoria Playing Fields' Association to raise funds for the betterment of local playgrounds is already meeting with the appreciation of all branches of sport.

Tickets for the community dance and frolic which will be held at the Crystal Garden on May 25, were placed on sale this morning. At this function a 1931 sport model sedan car will be given away. After paying expenses, all monies received through the sale of tickets will be immediately used to improve local playing fields.

Work in this connection has already been commenced on the Macdonald property in James Bay district, and employment for many citizens has been created. The association points out that practically all funds expended for the purpose will be used for labor, and that the activity will be one more factor in assisting to relieve the unemployment situation in Victoria.

As there is to be no official May 24 celebration this year advantage has been taken of the opportunity to provide a dance and frolic for the amusement of citizens and at the same time secure revenue for a worthy object intended to develop all lines of sport.

ELECTRIC EYE DETECTS TROUBLE

Schnectady, N.Y., May 2.—The electric eye, coupled to an electromagnet, a magnet, a galvanometer and an electric bell has been applied to the job of detecting trouble. Trouble in this case is iron scrap which gets into non-magnetic materials, such as copper and aluminum and prevents economic use of these materials in motor rotors.

An iron detector was designed in the general engineering laboratories of the General Electric Company. Scrap aluminum and copper is collected in many places in the factory, baled and remelted for use in motor rotors. In collecting the scrap, bits of iron frequently get into the lot and cannot be visually detected. Aluminum melts at 660 degrees centigrade and iron at 1530 degrees. Pieces of unmelted iron plug rotor slots or are dissolved in the hot aluminum and increase the resistance of the rotor. Melted copper dissolves iron up to about 2 per cent of its volume and thereby changes its physical and electrical properties. The former method of detecting iron was the use of compass needles but these are sensitive to stray magnetic fields and their indications are uncertain.

Under the new practice, scrap aluminum is baled into bundles 12x12x16 inches. The bale is passed slowly through magnetic field. The presence of iron deflects the light ray of the galvanometer and this ray, captured by the light sensitive photo-electric tube, sets up a slight current which, when amplified, rings a warning bell. Iron is found in about 5 per cent of the bales.

Grain Prices Climb; Cut Worms Showing Up

In the face of uncertainty in some sections of the stock market, corn prices climbed 1¼ to 2 cents a bushel in Chicago to-day, going through the day's offers by more than a cent.

Wheat prices in Winnipeg and Chicago were higher all around.

Inquiries from Winnipeg to-day brought out the fact that outside of a few points, no appreciable benefit has been experienced from the light showers over various parts of the prairies so far this week.

From North Dakota and Montana to-day there was a general complaint of lack of moisture and a general statement to the effect that moisture will be needed before the wheat planted in the last ten days will germinate.

There were also reports that cutworms are showing up.

WINNIPEG HOLIDAY

By Logan and Bryan

Winnipeg, May 6. — Wheat — The wheat market to-day, generally speaking, was rather a dull, featureless affair, but prices held firm within a narrow range. Export sales overnight were confined to a few scattered loads, but during the first half hour there was a good class of buying going on that was credited to seaboard or New York interest.

Opening prices were unchanged, but after the early demand was satisfied the market eased off, prices falling ⅜ to ½ under the close last night. On this recession, there was again fair support offered by exporters, and one house reported having worked 450,000 bushels for export. Saskatoon reported another dust storm, and these two features helped to strengthen up the market, and prices reacted to the highs of the day.

The demand for cash wheat was only fair and while offerings were not pressing, spreads were unchanged. Mills report flour business was quiet. The stock market was weak, and this had some influence, creating a further lack of confidence in all commodities as well as securities. Broadstreets visible supply decreased 5,707,000 bushels for the week. Canadian exports the past week were reported at 6,372,000 bushels. Feel friendly to wheat but advise watching weather conditions very closely. Winnipeg futures closed ¼ higher.

Coarse grains—These markets were all firm. There was further export business confirmed in barley, while there was fair buying of rye by export interests. Speculators were selling rye, but the offerings were well taken.

Oats closed ¼ to ⅛. Barley ½ to ¼ higher and rye ¾ to ½ higher.

Flax—This market was quiet and inclined to be dragging, closing ½ to ¾ lower.

Liverpool due ⅜ higher.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)

Chicago, May 6.—Wheat: The market was rather dull, with moderate selling on the small rallies, and also fair support on the dips, fluctuations being small. Foreign news showed little change in the situation abroad. Liverpool closed three-eighths lower. Buenos Aires at mid-day was unchanged to one-eighth up. Liverpool reported a well-sustained demand for wheat, but export business in North American wheat is not very active. The cash demand for domestic wheat is fair, with receipts continuing heavy. Foreign crop reports are generally favorable. The weekly weather and crop report from Washington said that wheat is in good to excellent condition in the west end of the belt. Wheat generally is jointed in Kansas and parts of Missouri and in the boot in Oklahoma. Weather map showed but little rain in western Canada, or in our northwest. A two-sided market is indicated, with weather conditions over the spring wheat country the main immediate factor.

Corn—Developed a much stronger tone and there appeared to be a much better class of buying in evidence in the late trade, with some back spreading between wheat and corn. Cash trade was still slow but local shipments were 313,000 bushels said stocks here are not heavy. Receipts were sixty-five cars estimated. With primary arrivals 426,000 bushels versus 596,000 year ago. Good rains have fallen over the corn belt the past two days. Deliveries were 10,000 bushels. Planting reports are satisfactory except that in the southwest the work has been delayed by too much rain. A trading market is indicated.

Oats—The firmness in corn was a helping influence in oats. Offerings were not especially heavy. Shipping demand continues fair and the movement continues small. Crop news continues of a favorable kind.

Rye—Most of the day rye was strong, buying based on unfavorable reports from the northwest.

C.P.R. DIVIDEND CUT GREATER THAN EXPECTED

Shareholders Anticipated Only 10% to 20% Drop Instead of Slash in Half

U.S. Steel Common Slumps to New Low at 110½; Copper Down to 9 Cents

General Industrial Averages, However, Still Hold Well Above Year's Extreme Low

Furnished by Logan and Bryan

New York, May 6—At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 149.73, up 0.84 points for the day; for 20 rails at 86.43, up 0.03 points; and for 20 utilities at 60.37, up 0.24 points.

Story of to-day's market is told by the fluctuations throughout the session of the Dow Jones industrial average as follows:

10.30 a.m.—147.67, off 1.82.
12.30 p.m.—147.82, off 1.67.
2.30 p.m.—148.16, off 0.73.
3.00 p.m.—149.73, up 0.84.
Sales—
10.30 a.m.—300,000.
12.00 noon—600,000.
2.10 p.m.—1,100,000.
3.00 p.m.—1,300,000 shares; total for the day.

Features of the market in Wall Street to-day were:

1. U.S. Steel continued to tumble, breaking from 113 to new record low at 110½.

2. Canadian Pacific Railway directors, an hour after the close of the market, announced a cut in the dividend to a basis of $1.25 a share, which is half the rate the company has been paying.

3. Copper metal price dropped to a new low at 9 cents a pound.

4. General Motors declared its regular dividend of 75 cents a common share for the quarter, and the regular preferred.

EXTENT OF CUT IS SURPRISE

Despite the fall in U.S. Steel common, American Can and some others to new low levels, the market average of the industrial list closing at 149.73 still holds well above the extreme low of the recent break for the average of 30 industrials at 141.61.

There was much eager anticipation over the action of the C.P.R. directors and shareholders' meeting in Montreal as giving an indication not only of the standing of the company, but of their view of the Canadian outlook.

The cut in half of the C.P.R. dividend, announced this afternoon, came as a shock to most of those interested in the stock as such a severe reduction had not been expected in any public quarter. The most that had been expected was a cut of 20 per cent to a $2 a share basis. There was a larger body of opinion which believed that the stock would be cut only 10 per cent—the same proportion as last week's cut—which would have placed it on a basis of $2.25 a share a year. Statements of high officials of the company during the last several months has led the shareholders to believe that the C.P.R. dividend was not in danger and that the company had sufficient reserves to meet any emergency.

BEATTY MAKES STATEMENE

In discussing the dividend policy at the meeting to-day, President E. W. Beatty said that at the end of the first half of last year and on the basis of earnings for that period, directors felt that the dividend would be earned during the year and decided at that time to maintain the rate for the full year. This year, however, conditions are different and the outlook is more obscure.

Mr. Beatty commented at length on results of operations for last year and on the ten per cent. wage cut effective May 1. He stated that an equivalent cut of ten per cent. has been made in salaries of officers and executives of the company and a cut in directors' fees will also be in order. Regarding the outlook for the future, Mr. Beatty said he was hopeful and even confident that in due time conditions in Canada will improve and be reflected in earnings of the railways. In addition to economies now in effect, steps have been taken to obtain a fair allocation of bus and truck business.

STOCK SELLS AT NEW LOW

In anticipation of the bad dividend news, C.P.R. stock during trading hours to-day fell to a new low at 30⅝.

GENERAL LIST RESISTS

The stock market generally managed to climb back to slightly above the previous closing levels late in to-day's session, despite concentrated bear selling of U.S. Steel and a few other prominent issues in the earlier trading.

Early declines of 1 to more than 3 points were largely cancelled, and several prominent issues closed fractionally to a point higher. The market was extremely sluggish all day, however.

U.S. Steel was sold to the accompaniment of estimates of a reduction in unfilled orders, to be reported Saturday. The market was so dull, however, that bears decided to withdraw in the final dealings. U.S. Steel dropped more than three to a new low since 1924, and closed off 1½ net.

Radio was firm all day and closed a point higher, in response to the optimistic report of President Sarnoff at the annual meeting.

General Electric showed a similar gain, as did American Telephone, International Harvester, Atchison, Anaconda and Sears-Roebuck. Allied Chemical regained a loss of 3¾ points. American Waterworks gained 2.

IMPERIAL OIL TO PAY REGULAR DIVIDEND RATE

Larger Sales at Smaller Profits Revealed at Company's Meeting To-day

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 6.—Directors of Imperial Oil Limited and International Petroleum to-day declared their regular quarterly dividends 12½ cents in the case of Imperial and 25 cents in the case of International Petroleum.

The Imperial Oil dividend is payable to shareholders of record June 1, while the International Petroleum dividend is payable June 15 to shareholders of record May 30.

President Stillman when asked if the company was likely to pay the bonus of 50 cents, as last year, he replied "not just yet."

SALES LARGER, PROFITS DOWN

G. H. Smith, president of the International Petroleum Co., when asked if the company would likely maintain its present dividend rate, replied that was a hard question to answer, although if the price of crude oil got no worse than at present, it would be safe.

Larger sales than in 1929, but considerably smaller profits are revealed in the 1930 report of Imperial Oil Ltd, brought down at the annual meeting of shareholders here to-day. Earnings in Canada for 1930 were $11,453,765 as compared with $20,951,803 in 1929. Earnings from investments outside of Canada were $9,105,838 as compared with $7,593,641 in 1929, making aggregate earnings after allowance for income tax of $19,020,360, or 71 cents a share, as compared with $26,350,308, or 99.32 cents a share in 1929. The balance sheet shows total assets of $242,159,163.

Decreased earnings are attributed to world-wide conditions and continued overproduction of crude, which drastically reduced prices and depreciated inventories.

Total dividend payments for the year were $26,545,160, being made up of the regular dividend of 50 cents plus a special dividend of the same amount. President C. O. Stillman's report carried a note of optimism.

EXPLORATION IN WEST

In the Canadian west drilling was confined principally to Turner Valley and the adjacent parts of the foothills, the reports says. Footage drilled was 56,409 feet, against 90,104 in 1929. Nineteen out of twenty wells were completed successfully, but results were disappointing. Of Alberta's total production of oil, 1,368,411 barrels, Imperial and its subsidiaries produced 894,561 barrels of 65 per cent gas supplied for consumption in Calgary was 6,222,797,000 cubic feet as compared with 5,845,524,000 cubic feet in 1929. Under a conservation programme more than 700,000,000 cubic feet of gas was transported and stored in the depleted Bow Island field.

Arctic-bound Party Will Visit Victoria

Specially Conducted Tour Will Travel Up Peace and Mackenzie Rivers to Far North

Will Cruise For Ten Days in the Arctic Ocean Calling at Herschel Island

More conducted parties than ever before will pass through Victoria during the summer months this year, and the latest to be heard from are special tours from the United States to all parts of Alaska and the Yukon, one tour even being scheduled to go as far as Herschel Island, on the rim of Arctic Sea. This is by far the most interesting and unusual trip, and the itinerary reads like some explorer's tale of early adventure and discovery.

The party will assemble in Seattle on July 9 and will leave that morning for Victoria, spending an hour in this city en route to Vancouver where the train will be boarded for the trip through the Rockies to Edmonton where the real trip will commence. From Edmonton the party will travel on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railroad to Lac la Biche. Then the party will travel on steamer up the Mackenzie and Athabasca Rivers, stopping at Fort McKay and Fort Chipewyan. The Slave and the great Peace Rivers will also be traveled on and a call will be made at Fort Resolution on Great Slave Lake. Six days will be spent on the Mackenzie River, calling at Fort Providence, Fort Simpson, Fort Wrigleu and Fort Norman, crossing the Arctic circle and calling at Arctic Red River, and arriving at Sklavik, farthest north Hudson's Bay post, on the delta of the Mackenzie, July 27.

IN THE ARCTIC

About ten days will be spent cruising the Arctic Ocean and two days will be spent on Herschel Island, farthest north outpost of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, seeing Eskimos in their summer occupation of whaling, hunting walrus, seal and bear and obtaining intimate knowledge of these northern inhabitants of a country frozen solidly in ice and snow for ten months of the year.

A special feature of this fascinating tour will be the airplane jump from Aklavik and La Pierre House, which will be done in a chartered plane. The trip will be made in one hour, but would require about ten days if made on land. The Porcupine River will be navigated and a call made at Fort Yukon. Then comes Circle City, Fairbanks, and down the Railroad to Anchorage, Seward and Cordova and then down the famous "inside passage" to Seattle, arriving there September 4. The trip south will be made aboard the steamer Aleutian.

This will be one of the most unique tours ever made throughout the great northland and when the party passes through Victoria there will be about fifteen people attached to it. Although there have been many more applications this number only will be carried so that everyone will have as much comfort as possible.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, May 6.—Added opposition to proposed legislation designed to alter the control of San Francisco harbor was voiced here yesterday by the Pacific-American Steamship Association. Representatives of the association in a joint meeting with members of the harbor commission passage a resolution urging the state legislature to refuse passage of any measure which would remove the harbor administration from the state board of harbor commissioners and place it within the administration of the city and county of San Francisco.

Virtually every major shipping line on the coast was represented at the meeting, including the American-Hawaiian Line, Associated Oil, Dollar Steamship Line, W. R. Grace, Luckenbach Line, Matson Line, Munson-McCormick Line, Pacific Steamship Company, Panama Mail, Swain and Hoyt, United Fruit, Union Oil and Los Angeles Steamship Company.

The first mail ship to head for far northern ports after the long winter, the United States coast guard cutter Northland left here yesterday for a seven-months' cruise that will take her as far north as Point Barrow, Alaska. The ship is under Commander E. D Jones.

MUCH INTEREST IN BUILDING OF HUGE NEW LINER

72,000-Ton Cunader Will Be Launched in About a Year; Clyde to Be Widened

Practically the whole world will take some part or other in the construction of the new 72,000-ton Cunard liner, at present being built at the yards of the John Brown Company, Clydebank, Scotland.

This liner, which when finished, will be the finest ship ever constructed for transatlantic travel, is the result of four years intensive planning on the part of the best marine minds that could be brought together.

For several years before the ship was ordered intricate tests were carried out in the laboratories of John Brown & Company for which models—exact replicas of the new Cunarder—were constructed. These models were placed in specially-designed tanks and submitted to every condition of wave and wind that might possibly be encountered on the Atlantic Ocean.

When the final model was approved and the plans for the docking facilities completed at Southampton, work was commenced in the same yards in which the world-famous Aquitania was constructed.

Right across the Clyde from where the new Cunarder is being built is the River Cart. It will be necessary to cut a very large part of the bank of this river away as well as deepen it, as the launching of such a large vessel is without precedent; launching preparations are at present demanding a great deal of care in the working out of the problems of committing the giant vessel to the water.

This recalls to mind the great care and attention which was paid to the launching of the Aquitania on the Clyde, and at that event it was found expedient to make a large cut in the bank of the river to allow for the ship to be launched.

The household equipment for this new queen of the seas will include 300,000 pieces of silver, 200,000 pieces of china, pottery and glass, and an incredible quantity of linen and furnishings of every conceivable sort.

Indications at present point to a launching early in 1932—considerably in advance of the date originally set last year when the order was given to John Brown & Company.

The first opportunity that the general public will have to view the construction of this new Cunarder will be when the yards of John Brown & Company are opened for public inspection during Glasgow Week, and preparations are being made for thousands of visitors to be taken care of who are anxious to get a glimpse of this ocean giant in the making.

Around the Docks

The Prince Rupert, the Salvage King and the Princess Elizabeth are still in the Dominion Government drydock at Esquimalt for repairs and annual spring overhaul. The Rupert is in the land section of the dock, the Princess Elizabeth in the seaward end and between them is the Salvage King. The Elizabeth and the Salvage King, in the hands of the Victoria Machinery Depot, will probably be floated out to-night or to-morrow morning, while the Prince Rupert will remain in until the end of the week. Yarrow's Limited are engaged in the work on the Prince Rupert, and expect to have her ready for service in another ten days after her long repair job.

FROM EUROPE

Two vessels are due here over the week-end from European ports. They are the Furness motorliner Pacific Enterprise and the Holland-America freighter Kinderdyk. Both are now at California ports. The Furness ship has 160 tons of general cargo and a few passengers for this port. Before proceeding to Vancouver she will load 400 tons of whale oil here for Glasgow. The Kinderdyk has 110 tons of general cargo for discharge at this port.

VISITING HERE

Among the visitors to Victoria today in the interests of business and pleasure is Bruno Hermann, of the J. B. S. Davis Company of Seattle, well-known marine underwriters. Mr. Hermann arrived in the city this morning and looked up several of his business associates before departing to enjoy a game of golf on one of Victoria's fine courses.

HELD BY WIND

The only ship at the outer docks today was the Rochelle of the Kingsley fleet which docked at Ogden Point this afternoon with cargo for discharge here. After completing business at this port the Rochelle will proceed to Vancouver. Ted King of King Brothers, local agents, met the ship and handled her during her short stay at Victoria. Upon arrival off the breakwater before noon she was held by the strong wind.

FIRST ALASKA TRIP

On the first of four trips to northern British Columbia and Alaska ports, the C.P.R. coast steamer Princess Louise will leave Victoria at midnight to-night and will sail from Vancouver to-morrow evening for Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Juneau, Wrangell Skagway and other ports along "inside passage." The Princess Louise will also sail for the north from Victoria on May 17, May 27 and June 5 before the Princess Charlotte and the Princess Alice join her for the summer months. The Princess Maquinna is expected to return tomorrow from a trip to the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

ON SURVEY TRIP

Hydrographic survey work is being carried on off the West Coast of Vancouver Island at present by the Dominion Government steamer Lillooet, which left Victoria some weeks ago. The lighthouse tender Estevan is still at the Bay Street plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot for annual overhaul, but will leave shortly for her trip around the Island with supplies for the lighthouses and buoys. The smaller tender Berens has just completed a job at Pender Harbor, and is now in Victoria.

TO LOAD GRAIN

It is reported that two ships have been listed to come here within the next month to load parcels of 10,000 tons of grain each from the elevator at Ogden Point. R. D. Purdy of Calgary, manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool and Joseph Bennett, superintendent of the Pool's Vancouver elevators were in Victoria yesterday, and after a conference with James Burden, manager of the local elevator, said it is hoped to have a British freighter here within two weeks to load grain.

Contradictory Evidence In Ship Crash Inquiry

Captains of Government Steamer Malaspina and Freighter City of Victoria, Which Crashed Near Vancouver in Fog on February 3, Disagree Before Inquiry in Vancouver; Court May Continue a Week

Vancouver, May 6.—Flat contradiction of evidence regarding the position of the two vessels has complicated proceedings in the inquiry being conducted at the courthouse by Dominion Wreck Commissioner J. D. MacPherson, into the collision which occurred just outside First Narrows February 3, between the freighter City of Victoria and the government cruiser Malaspina.

The investigation which opened yesterday may last a week owing to utterly divergent stories told by Capt. A. E. Henderson of the government boat, and Capt. J. J. Flood of the City of Victoria.

The crash occurred in a dense fog bank outside the Narrows at a time when the Narrows channel was clear. The City of Victoria was inbound running through the fog, and the Malaspina outbound, and had just entered the fog bank when the vessels collided.

On the witness stand yesterday afternoon, Capt. Henderson stated that he was "hugging" the south shore so closely that the keeper at North Shore lighthouse shouted to him that he was running ashore. Evidence was presented to the effect that both Capt. Henderson and the lightkeeper made a note of this incident at the moment.

Capt. Flood, on the other hand, claims the City of Victoria was slowly proceeding toward the Narrows entrance in mid-channel and he swears this is where the crash took place.

In order to determine the issue, subordinate officers, lookout men and others of the two vessels will be asked to testify.

The inquiry continued at 10 o'clock this morning. Captains S. Vint and M. F. Cutler are associated with the wreck commissioner.

E. A. Lucas is appearing for Capt. Henderson, and Sydney Smith for Capt. Flood.

STOLE PARTS OF RAIL CARS

Theft of Brass Bearings From C.N.R. Cars May Have Caused Serious Accidents

New Westminster, May 6.—Believed to have carried on stealing of brass journals from Canadian National Railway freight cars in a wholesale fashion, Frank H. Annak pleaded guilty in city police court to theft of 200 pounds of these journals, or bearings, and was sentenced to one year in the Oakalla prison. He also received an additional three months for the theft of fifty pounds of copper wire from the Fraser Valley Tie and Timber Company Ltd.

Assistant Superintendent O. J Wheatley of the Canadian National Railways told the court freight cars arriving at Port Mann from Vancouver had been found minus bearings. The loss of bearings might have led to accidents and possible loss of life if it had not been found they were missing. Annak, he said, was located living in a shack near Port Mann. Damage of between $3,000 and $4,000 had been done to about eighteen cars, through the loss of the bearings, said Mr. Wheatley.

Further investigation by Mr. Wheatley, with Investigator J. R. Knight of the railway company and Chief John Cameron of the city police resulted in a charge against William Klewitz, second-hand dealer, of receiving stolen property. It is alleged he had received the journals from Annak. Klewitz is to appear on this charge Wednesday.

C.P.R. for the fourth week of April gross $3,806,000, off $447,000. Month of April, $11,006,000, off $2,296,000; total from January 1 this year $45,967,000, off $8,229,000.

STRIKERS PUT WANTS BEFORE SERVICE GUILD

Want Salaries of All Towboat Workers on Same Level and Shorter Hours

Vancouver, B.C., May 6. — The first official statement by the Canadian Merchant Service Guild on the towboat officers' strike was issued yesterday.

The striking masters and mates are asking the following:

It was learned that all other skilled craft, semi-public groups and professional lines have been granted increases ranging from twelve to forty per cent. since 1922, a period in which the masters have received no increases. The men feel that there should be no decrease in their pay until those who have received the increases are back at the scale of 1922.

"We ask also," says the statement, "that the working time of masters and mates of towboats be twelve working hours per day, and that after they have reached sixteen continuous hours they be allowed eight hours' rest and time off equal to one day per week. The full working month of a man on shore is 180 hours. We are asking that the working hours of the masters and mates be brought down to 312 hours per month. Some years ago a royal commission awarded all masters and mates time off, free of their vessels, equal to one day per week. The companies agreed to abide to this award, but have failed to do so, with the exception of the passenger lines, the ferry services and one or two of the companies operating freight vessels."

Some of the men now on strike, it is said, have been kept on duty by the owners or the requirements of their charges as much as fifty-two hours at a time, without sleep or rest, and some have not had a day free from their vessel within periods of months, during which time they may have been at their home ports numbers of times. Some of the companies, it is added, grant their men periodical leave, but the majority do not.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN
AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON" ETC.
©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

"Of course," he told himself, "Doris, being the tidy and efficient little person she was, undoubtedly wiped off Mrs. Berkeley's dressing table and basin with a used towel when she had finished giving the 'facial.' But—how could Doris fall against the mirror without touching the dressing table? Whether she tripped or fell or was pushed, she must have tried instinctively to steady herself. Her finger prints must have been on that dressing table! And not even the most efficient maid goes about wiping off finger prints from an otherwise immaculate surface.

"The question is—who wiped them off? Answer—the person who pushed Doris Matthews so that her roughed mouth left its print upon the mirror. Second question—why didn't the same person remove the rouge spot from the mirror? . . . Answer—because he or she was in a great hurry and did not notice the spot; or he or she was more concerned with removing his or her own finger prints from that porcelain-topped table than in obliterating possible traces of Doris's presence there. Why? Because Doris had a right to be there and the maid's attacker did not? Answer—possibly, or—quite probably!"

He was so absorbed in his speculations that his physical movements were almost automatic. Otherwise he must have realized before he reached it that the roadster was empty.

Dundee was about to turn away from the car to search nearby cigar and drug stores for his missing chauffeur when he caught sight of a scrap of paper affixed to the steering wheel by means of a postage stamp. His hand shook as he reached for the note.

CHAPTER XI

Dick Berkeley had written in pencil upon the torn back of an old envelope:

"Dundee"—the note began—"Your 'trusty' has broken parole. For God's sake don't hunt me down and drag me back. I'll turn up soon enough, but by then it won't make much difference where I am. Sorry. Dick."

Dundee stared at the pencilled scrawl until the words grew enormous.

"Suicide?" he whispered. . . .

Fifteen minutes later, in the blue twilight of the late September day, the weary and shaken young detective turned the roadster's nose toward Hillcrest. Fortunately Dick had left the key in the ignition switch.

He had done all he could, Dundee argued with himself. It would have been foolish to conduct the search personally. The police department had the matter in hand, and could be relied upon to make a thorough job of it. And as Strawn had assured him callously, those who threaten to commit suicide seldom go through with it. Besides, the alarm had been given so quickly that the desperate boy had not more than fifteen minutes' start on his small band of uniformed pursuers.

Yes, he had done all he could, but it was hard to meet Gigi's eyes when that ubiquitous child sprang upon the running board of the car as it passed between the open gates of Hillcrest.

"Hello!" she greeted him blithely. "I've been lonesome. The reporters have just left, the last of 'em, I mean. They kept coming and coming, and Abbie gave 'em tea and let 'em take all the pictures they wanted. She wouldn't let me be interviewed. Afraid I'd spill something I shouldn't. . . . Where's Dick? I saw you and him drive off together."

"Dick deserted me," he said, as lightly as possible.

But Gigi was not deceived. She leaned over and stared into his eyes for a moment, then cried reproachfully: "Why didn't you keep an eye on him, for heaven's sake? If you hadn't rushed off without saying goodbye I'd have warned you not to let him out of your sight."

"Why?" he asked, startled.

"Because all day he's been bent on getting drunk again," Gigi retorted, as if surprised at his obtuseness.

Dundee drew a sharp breath. Stopping the car abruptly, he drew Dick's note of apology from his pocket and passed it to the girl.

"It's too dark to read. Hop into the car and I'll turn the dashlight on for you."

To hold the scrap of paper under the weak little bulb she had to crouch close against him, and involuntarily he put his arm about her shoulders.

"Just as I thought! The pig!" Gigi snorted contemptuously when her quick eyes had taken in the scrawled lines. "I suppose it is worse for him than for the rest of us, because he was in love with Doris, or thought he was, but— Oh, why can't he be a man!"

"You think that's what the note means?—that he's merely sneaked off to get drunk?" Dundee asked, as casually as possible.

"Of course! What do you think? . . . O-o-o-oh! I see!" and to Dundee's amazement she laughed. "You thought that this was a sort of cryptic confession and advance notice that Dick was going to commit suicide! If you knew Dick as well as I do! Nobody loves life better than my beloved brother, and nobody has less physical courage. A month from now he'll be crazy about another girl, and—Say, did you sic the police on to him?" she broke off to demand with sudden amazing truculence.

"Yes," Dundee admitted curtly.

"Oh, dear! He'll probably be brought home dead drunk in the Black Maria, and what chance will we have then to keep dad from knowing all about it?" she wailed. "A couple of weeks ago dad put his foot down hard. Told Dick if he bought so much as one drink of bootleg liquor again he'd disinherit him, and he didn't mean maybe. Now—"

"Dick was drunk last night, and so far I've heard nothing about Dick's being kicked out," Dundee reminded her.

"Dad blames himself for that. The liquor was served at his own table, because Abbie insisted on the dinner being 'correct,'" she explained impatiently. "Why couldn't you have believed Dick when he said he'd turn up soon enough? He could have sneaked in and I could have helped him to bed without any fuss. . . Detectives with vivid imaginations are an awful nuisance," she added mournfully.

Dundee was too indignant to frame a scathing enough retort, but beneath his ardent desire to spank her was an even more ardent desire to kiss her, in gratitude for the great relief she had given him. For he believed she was right in her interpretation of Dick's melodramatic note.

And she was. The summons to the library telephone came just as the young detective was about to enter the drawing-room at the dinner hour.

"Hello! Dundee? . . . Captain Strawn. . . . We've got that fine young friend of yours. . . . Yeah. Drunk. More than a little drunk. What had I better do with him? Book him on a charge of drunkenness, so we can keep an eye on him?"

Dundee chuckled with relief. "Do me a favor, chief. Have one of the boys escort him to a Turkish bath, boil the booze out of him, and then send him home. And I'll appreciate it if his escort left him at the gates, to toddle in alone. I'll try to keep his family from knowing what he's been up to—just to preserve the peace, you know."

But the skillful half-lies with which Dundee quieted George Berkeley's suspicions as to his son's absence were told for Gigi's sake, not for Dick Berkeley's.

As soon as possible after the serving of coffee in the drawing-room Dundee made his escape. It lay heavy upon his conscience that he had not yet finished transcribing the thick sheaf of notes he had made during that long, grueling day.

After typing steadily for an hour and a half he had finished his task, with the exception of making a summary of his discoveries leading up to the conclusion, clinched by Gigi's reluctant admissions, that Mrs. George Berkeley was a perfect addict.

Suddenly he sat back and stared at the last two condensed sentences he had typed:

"Mrs. B. purchased seven bottles perfume September. Found five empty perfume bottles concealed in Mrs. B.'s clothes closet."

Seven. Five. . . . Where were those two other bottles? Where, also, were the bottles, once filled with expensive perfume, which Mrs. Berkeley had undoubtedly brought with her from Europe?

"Maybe she drank it all before landing and chucked the bottles overboard," Dundee decided. "Her breath must have reeked with it or her fellow passenger, Crosby, would not have got wise to her habit. But—those other two bottles. If she was afraid or ashamed to have the chambermaid see the five I found—" He did not finish the sentence, but drummed scowlingly on the desk. "Gigi knew. Others knew. Why not Dick? And Dick dared not buy bootleg liquor on pain of being disinherited!"

He sprang to his feet, overturning the chair. He let it lie and dashed through the bathroom to Dick Berkeley's bedroom. It took him less than five minutes to find what he was looking for. The boy was not so ingenious as was his mother.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Tumbling Tommie

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

(Copyright, 1931, by Howard R. Garis.)

With his forty sixteen bunny rabbit boys and girls gathered about him one rainy day in his hollow-stump bungalow, Uncle Wiggily looked at the door which was slowly being pushed open. It was the outside door and some one was coming in. Even Baby Bunty, the cute little orphan rabbit, knew that.

"Who is coming in?" she whispered.

"Hush!" murmured Mr. Longears. "We shall soon see!"

"It can't be any of us," said Jingle, for all her brothers and sisters were there in the room and so was Uncle Wiggily. Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears were in the kitchen.

Uncle Wiggily had been going to give his bunny boys and girls a picnic after school that day. But it rained so they stayed in the bungalow and played a guessing game, Mr. Longears asking the questions. He had just asked what it was that talked but had no tongue, and had told the answer (which is the radio), when the door was slowly pushed open from the outside.

"Why are you all so quiet in here?" asked Nurse Jane, coming from the kitchen. "Don't you like Uncle Wiggily's guessing game?"

"Oh, yes," whispered Baby Bunty. "It's fun. But some one is coming in and we don't know who it is!"

"Hush!" murmured Mr. Longears.

"Nonsense! Don't be silly!" laughed Nurse Jane. "Very likely it is Aunt Lettie, the goat, or Mrs. Twistytail, the pig, coming to borrow an umbrella to keep away the rain!"

"If it were Mrs. Twistytail or Aunt Lettie they would ring the bell. They wouldn't just open the door and walk in," whispered Jingle.

"Oh, I know!" cried Baby Bunty, all of a sudden, from where she sat in Uncle Wiggily's lap. "The wind is blowing the door open!"

"No, I hardly think so," said Mr. Longears. "Now don't be at all frightened, my dears," he went on, "for everything is going to be all right. But I think the Fox, the Wolf or, perhaps, the Bob Cat is pushing open that door."

"Oh, dear!" cried Baby Bunty, and she put her paws around Uncle Wiggily and hugged him so tightly he could hardly breathe.

"There he is!" shouted Buster and, surely enough, the door was now wide open and there stood the Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh, so I find you at home with the family!" growled the Fox as he walked boldly in. "I thought you wouldn't be out in the rain!"

"No, but you are going right back out in the rain and stay there!" said Uncle Wiggily bravely. "You can't come in here and bite any of us."

"But I am in here already!" said the Fox.

"You can't stay unless you play the game we are playing," said Uncle Wiggily. "No, indeed!"

"What game are you playing?" asked the Fox.

"A guessing game," answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, I love guessing games!" said the Fox. "I'm very good and clever at them, too. Go on, ask me a question and see how quickly I answer."

"Mind you!" said Mr. Longears sternly, "if you don't answer in three guesses you must go right out!"

"I will," promised the Fox. "Go on, give me a guess!"

"What is it," said Uncle Wiggily, has four legs and yet can't walk. And what is it has a back it can't bend?"

"Hum!" snickered the Fox, "that's easy. Why-er-now let me see; did you say four legs?"

"Four legs!" repeated Mr. Longears.

"And a back that can't bend?" asked the Fox.

"And a back that can't bend," said Mr. Longears. "What is it?"

"A cow!" guessed the Fox. "No, that can't be right, for a cow can walk. A horse!" he guessed again. "No, that isn't right, either. Oh, I know!" he howled. "It's an automobile!"

"Wrong!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "An auto has four wheels but no legs. You didn't guess Mr. Fox, so out you go!" The Fox was so surprised at not being able to guess the answer that, before he knew what was happening, Uncle Wiggily had pushed him out of the door. The Fox fell down the steps and bumped his nose so he had to run away home.

"Oh, I'm glad he's gone!" said Baby Bunty. "But, Unkie Wig, what is it that has four legs and can't walk and a back it can't bend?"

Mr. Longears was just going to tell the answer when, all of a sudden, there was a loud banging noise on the front steps.

"Here comes the Fox back!" cried Jingle. "He must have guessed the answer! Oh, dear!" But as she looked out of the window she went on, "No, thank goodness, it isn't the Fox. It's Tumbling Tommie. Maybe he can guess the answer." She ran to open the door to let Tumbling Tommie in and what happened next will be in the story after this. It will be called Uncle Wiggily's campfire. And it will be very kind of you if you can stop the canary from splashing his bath water in the face of the clock, which makes its hands all wet.

Broadcast Headliners

LAW CONVENTION WILL BE HEARD

To-morrow between 7.15 and 8 a.m., Victoria time, an NBC network, including KOMO, Seattle, will broadcast a programme from the opening session of the annual convention of the American Law Institute. Honorable Chas. Evans Hughes, chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, will be the principal speaker, George W. Wickersham, president of the National Committee on Law Observance and Enforcement, will preside.

* * *

The play to be presented from the main studio of CFCT at 7.30 o'clock this evening is called "One Exciting Night," and radio listeners are invited to spend the evening with the local station. The play is one of the most ambitious yet offered by the cast and it is the story of a young New York author. Although he is a writer of breath-taking adventure stories, his own life is just a flat and uninteresting existence. He eventually throws his typewriter on the floor with disgust and stamps out of the room. He hardly reaches the elevator, however, before things begin to happen. First of all he finds himself in a lady's boudoir—but to tell any more of the story would be to spoil it for listeners to CFCT at 7.30 o'clock this evening, when "One Exciting Night" will be presented.

ITALIAN DIPLOMAT REINCARNATED

Life in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries in Italy will be reviewed when Machiavelli, master diplomat in the time of the Italian Renaissance, is interviewed during the broadcast of the Arco Birthday Party over an NBC network to-morrow evening from 5 to 5.30 o'clock, Victoria time. Machiavelli will be brought to the party by means of a radio "reincarnation." For more than fourteen years he guided the destinies of the Florentine Republic and jealously guarded the rights and liberties of his native city until the Medici returned to power.

Two great composers whose birthdays occur to-day—Tchaikovsky and Brahms—will be honored when selections from their pens are presented. Rachel Morton, soprano; Harold Hansen, tenor; John Moncrieff, basso; the Rondoliers quartette and an orchestra directed by Jaffrey Harris, are the artists who will be heard during the musical portion of the programme. Victoria listeners will best be able to hear this programme over KOMO and KGO.

RUTH BRETON ON AIR

Ruth Breton, renowned as a concert violinist, who has appeared in recital with many of the leading symphonies of the world, will be heard as guest artist in the presentation of the Columbia Concerts Corporation over KVI, Tacoma, from 6.45 to 7.15 o'clock, Victoria time, to-night.

Miss Breton, a native of Louisville, Kentucky, started her career as a virtuoso quite early, receiving her first instruction from her father when she was five years old. At the age of eleven, she made her first public appearance, playing a work as difficult as Saint Saens's "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso." At the suggestion of Mischa Elman, Miss Breton studied a year with Franz Kneisel, and then became for several years a favorite of Leopold Auer in New York.

SATIRICAL PLAY

"Enthusiasms," a satirical comedy by Michael Raffetto, is the radio play to be presented by the National Players during the NBC Drama Hour to-night from 9 to 9.30 o'clock, Victoria time.

The action of the play centres around a society couple and their dinner to an English novelist who, at the moment, is being widely wined and dined by the social elite. How the hostess is very much put out by unexpected happenings, to the host's delight, but later to his chagrin, is told in a manner that is not unlike O. Henry in its surprise ending. KGO, San Francisco and Oakland; KTAR, Phoenix, and KOA, Denver, are the stations broadcasting the drama.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1931

Astrologers read this as an unfortunate day in planetary government, because adverse aspects strongly dominate.

While this configuration prevails the mind may incline toward the contemplation of unpleasant things.

Discontent and despondency are supposed to be emphasized by this sway and a positive attitude of mind should be maintained.

The public is likely to be unduly critical of holders of political offices, and harsh judgment may be extremely prevalent.

Under this rule of the stars self deception as well as double dealing on the part of many persons may be evident in business and domestic affairs.

Farmers again are subject to adverse planetary influences, which may cause errors in their agricultural methods.

The President of the United States comes under a powerful and fortunate figure which presages success through what appear to be difficulties.

Mars is in a place which seems to foreshadow for the United States an increase in its world influence, although there may be many internal conflicts of political opinion.

Progress along the paths of international peace is prophesied, since the stars appear to promise strong allies for the United States in all efforts toward real advancement.

The conjunction of Mars and Neptune next month is read as indicating for the world strikes, revolutions and serious danger.

Winds, heavy rainstorms and earthquakes again are foretold for various parts of the country, which will not suffer serious damage.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of real good luck attended by unexpected turns of fortune.

Children born on this day probably will be serious, thoughtful and talented. Many subjects of this sign have an intense feeling for rhythm.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

In a cigarette, as in a horse race, quality tells! Thoroughbreds that have the right blood in their veins, are the ones that win the richest stakes.

And cigarettes like Turrets, that are exactly right in quality and flavour, are the ones that hold the records for popularity with discriminating smokers.

After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco; grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred."

The winnings of Gallant Fox in 1930 were the greatest of any thoroughbred in turf history for a single season—the world's record for successful racing.

Danger Period in Marriage | Dorothy Dix | Finds Thirtieth Year Critical

Once a Couple Have Negotiated the First Ten Years of Marriage, They Think They Are Safe For the Rest of Their Lives; but Let Them Beware the Perilous Thirties, When Many a Matrimonial Venture Goes on the Rocks

WHAT is the most dangerous time in marriage? German statisticians have discovered that the hardest years are from the fifth to the tenth of married life, at least in Germany.

Being a younger, a more impulsive and a more undisciplined people, we begin to get dissatisfied with our matrimonial bargains sooner than the Germans do, and I should say that in this country the time of greatest peril to marriage is between the second and the fifth years. Let no young couple however, who have safely negotiated this storm centre congratulate themselves that all danger is past, and that the balance is fair sailing. For there lies ahead of them the hazardous thirties, on which more domestic happiness is wrecked than anywhere else along the course.

Generally speaking, the honeymoon begins to wane about the time the bride's trousseau commences to give out and get shabby, and the bridegroom discovers that marriage is a job and not a romance. Up to then matrimony has been a gay adventure.

There was the thrill and excitement of getting married, and the wonder of having each other to themselves, and the fun of starting to housekeeping and the marvel of what Mr. Walter Winchell calls "blessed eventing." That has taken up about two years agreeably and entertainingly, and if each has discovered that marriage isn't quite so much of a picnic as they thought it was going to be and if they have been a little surprised and pained to observe faults in each other that they never dreamed the other had concealed about his or her person, it really hasn't mattered much.

They quarreled and kissed and made up and the kick of the reconciliation compensated for the tears and reproaches and home truths they told each other, and they still had the sex allure for each other that first drew them together.

But by the end of the second year the novelty of marriage has worn off and the romance is as tattered as the chiffons of the wife's wedding finery. They know all of each other's moods and tenses and there are a lot of them that they don't like. If Tom had ever suspected that Mary had that kind of temper and could be so mulish and unreasonable; if Mary had ever imagined that Tom could be so pig-headed and stubborn and say the things he does when dinner is thirty minutes late and the roast happens to get burned—well, ugh-huh. They are human and not plaster saints, nor understudies of Job or Patient Griselda and marriage doesn't look so good to them.

The gay adventure isn't so gay any more. It is a dull, hard grind of cooking and washing and scrubbing and baby-tending and punching the time clock and worry over the rent and the doctors' bills and seeing everything you make go for the actual necessities of life. And Mary and Tom are young and they crave pleasure and fine clothes and good times and all the luxuries and carefreeness that they had before they were married.

So it isn't surprising that they often don't think the game is worth the candle and that they fight and forget that they ever loved each other and that the marriage frequently ends in divorce. It takes courage to carry on through these first years of disillusionment and discouragement and maladjustment and I doubt if there is one couple in a thousand where the man has not, at some time during the third year of his marriage, considered the feasibility of wife desertion and where the wife has not put on her hat a dozen times to go back home to mother.

But if they do stick out the first five years they somehow adapt themselves to each other and learn to give and take, they learn marriage has rewards that pay for the sacrifice it exacts, and they are reasonably safe until after they pass their silver wedding day.

During those first twenty-five years the husband and wife have been so busy rearing their children and getting a start in the world that they haven't had much time to think about their emotions, but with the children married and gone about their own affairs and themselves comfortably well off, they suddenly have leisure to look each other over and perceive faults and blemishes that they never saw before. Generally, it is the man who rocks the boat. He discovers that his wife is too old for him, that she has got too fat, that she isn't a spell-binder and that she doesn't thrill him as does some flapper half her age and a third her weight. Also, he realizes that his youth is nearly gone and now is his last chance at his last fling.

And that is what makes staid old husbands, who have been as domestic as the house cat, suddenly go wild and flirtatious and why so many middle-aged wives are collecting alimony.

In reality, the most dangerous time of all in a marriage is when a couple are around the thirtieth year of their married life. Once they get past that, they are safe for the balance of the journey.

Bishop Sheehan Tells of Death of Father Tierney, Held For Ransom

Victim Succumbed to Exposure in Mountainous Region of Kienchang-fu

After being constantly on the move for the better part of a year in order to escape capture by bandits, Rt. Rev. E. T. Sheehan, titular bishop of Calydon and vicar apostolic of Yu Kiang, reached Victoria aboard the Ss. President Jefferson yesterday from Shanghai.

Ship reporters boarding the Jefferson as she lay alongside her berth at the Rithet docks, learned something of the ruthlessness of bandits roaming the great province of Kiangsi from the lips of Bishop Sheehan, although he was not eager to talk of his recent trying experiences in the mission fields of China.

Meagre news dispatches from the Orient reported the death as recently as March 5 of Father Cornelius Tierney while held for ransom in the mountains in the vicinity of Kienchang-fu in Kiangsi province.

WITH SAME MISSION

Father Tierney belonged to the same mission as Bishop Sheehan, who still grieves over the untimely end of an earnest co-worker and friend.

Father Tierney was captured at the little mission Kienchang-fuat last October and his captors demanded a ransom of $11,000 for his release. The mission appealed to the Chinese authorities and a sum of $4,000 was paid over to the bandit chief, but it was not enough.

Ill-treatment and exposure, in the opinion of Bishop Sheehan, was responsible for the death of Father Tierney.

GOLD TAKEN FROM TEETH

When the mission finally recovered the body it was found that even the gold filling had been removed from the dead man's teeth. His watch and other valuables also had been taken by the bandits.

Since last year, Bishop Sheehan has been in constant fear of capture and has been compelled to move from place to place in China in order to retain his liberty. He said yesterday that since the abduction of Father Tierney last October he had spent but one month at his mission at Kienchang-fu.

Mainly because of his recent experiences, he was granted extended leave by the church, and will spend the next two months visiting in the United States.

CLERIC SPEAKS ON CATHEDRALS

Ven. Archdeacon Laycock Tells Round Table of England's Great Churches

An illuatrated address on English cathedrals was given yesterday evening by Ven. E. P. Laycock, Archdeacon of Columbia, before the Round Table Club at the Empress Hotel. He showed the development of cathedral architecture from the massive Roman and Norman, through various stages of Gothic, to finely carved and gracious lines of beauty.

Pictures of a number of English cathedrals were shown to illustrate the points presented, among them being views of Salisbury, Durham, Canterbury, Gloucester, Lincoln, Exeter, Liverpool and Westminster Abbey.

Archdeacon Laycock recalled that the Abbey had provided the railing which now stands in Victoria's cathedral and expressed the opinion that the age of cathedral building had not yet passed, supporting this view with a long list of cathedrals now in course of construction in England, Australia, Canada and the United States.

Dr. D. W. Graham, president, thanked Archdeacon Laycock for the address.
